Ike Asks Open Convention

Says Egypt Has Caused Grave Issue

Cautions West Be Sure "We Are Just And Fair" In Crisis

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP) — President Eisenhower said today Egypt's sudden move to nationalize the Suez Canal confronts the world with "a very grave issue" which must be "handled with care."

Another official said Eisenhower rushed Secretary of State Dulles to London yesterday because he was seriously alarmed over the possibility the British and French might use force to seize the canal from Egypt.

Eisenhower did not mention this fear at a news conference. But, in an obvious effort to calm the British and French, he cautioned that the West "must make sure we are just and fair" in meeting the Suez crisis.

Warns Against Force

Dulles' main mission in London, it was reported, is to warn against use of military force as part of any drastic British-French move.

He is reported to be under instructions to make clear the United States will not join in any such military move and that it believes diplomats can work out the problem without resort to force.

In talking with reporters, Eisenhower did not seek to minimize the importance of the canal to American merchant and naval ships. He described it as "important to every country in the world that has a seacoast and maybe even all the rest."

"The great problem," he said, "is to make certain of the continued efficient use of this great waterway, whose importance is not confined to the neighboring countries or Europe, but, indeed, it is vital to our economy and to our future welfare."

Noted Suggestions

A reporter noted current suggestions from various quarters that the canal be internationalized, and asked whether these might lead to proposals for internationalizing the Panama Canal.

Eisenhower dismissed this idea, saying "the conditions aren't the same."

The President made it plain he favors firm but fair action—short of war—to keep the Suez Canal open in all circumstances. He laid down this forumla:

"It is something to be handled with care, to make sure we are just and fair; but we must make certain that the rights of the world are not abused."

The State Department was reported to have alerted some of the 2,700 Americans in Egypt to be careful.

Standby plans for evacuation of all Americans are known to be ready to be put into effect.

International Meeting On Suez Is Agreed Upon

Egypt, Russia Included In Plans To Control Canal

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The foreign ministers of Britain, France and the United States agreed tonight to call an international meeting—including Egypt and the Soviet Union—to establish international control of the Suez Canal.

The agreement was disclosed by an American informant who said "the possibility of forceful action" has receded.

He said that during U.S. Secretary of State Dulles' meetings today with Prime Minister Eden and the British and French foreign ministers the possible use of force to insure international control of the canal appeared to have been accepted as "a last resort."

Presumably only a hostile act by Egypt against British or French ships would bring military action by those countries.

Would Repel "Pirates"

In Alexandria, President Gamal Abdel Nasser, whose decree nationalizing the canal angered and alarmed both Britain and France, declared Egypt would "repel the pirates" threatening his country "if they violate Egyptian rights in the canal dispute or on Egyptian soil."

Nasser told a Boy Scout meeting that Egypt would defend the canal to assure freedom of navigation. He spoke shortly after reports were received from London saying Britain was determined to use force to prevent Egyptian interference with canal shipping. This report was based on a statement by an authoritive British source, who said Britain would act alone if necessary in case Egypt rejects an internationally negotiated control system.

The projected international conference is expected to be held within one month, possibly by mid-August. The American source said it has not yet been settled who will convene the meeting.

The Big Three decision to invite both Russia and Egypt appeared an acceptance of the U.S. point of view.

Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov and French Ambassador Maurice DeJean conversed at length tonight at a Swiss legation reception in Moscow. DeJean declined to reveal what they discussed. But it was considered certain the subjects included both the Suez dispute and the nationalist rebellion against France in Algeria.

28,000 Workers In Aluminum Plants Strike

BULLETIN

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1 (AP) — Tentative agreement was reached tonight on a new contract to avert a strike by 15,000 workers employed in nine plants of the Aluminum Co. of America. The agreement was reached just a few minutes before a midnight strike deadline set by the Aluminum Workers International Union.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)— The nation's aluminum industry was hit today by a strike of 28,000 workers in 21 plants. However, a strike deadline was extended for 20,500 workers in 19 other plants where a separate union has jurisdiction.

The walkout was called by the United Steelworkers of America, which was simultaneously engaged in drawing up new contracts to end the month-long steel strike.

The new strike, result of a wage dispute, halted operations at 12 plants of the Aluminum Co. of America (Alcoa) and nine of the Reynolds Metals Co.

Meanwhile, the Aluminum Workers International Union extended its strike deadline 24 hours —until midnight tonight—for 10 Reynolds and nine Alcoa plants.

The plants closed by the USW produce about 50 per cent of the nation's aluminum.

A USW spokesman said the union was ready to resume negotiations but that no talks had been scheduled with either Alcoa, the nation's largest aluminum producer, or with Reynolds, second in production.

The union issued a statement attacking the "attitude of Alcoa throughout the negotiations" and particularly today.

"Instead of sending its representatives to meet with the union, an Alcoa official simply phoned and said he and his associates were leaving New York to return to Pittsburgh," the USW statement said.

It charged that Alcoa "insists that its employes accept substandard wages and inferior working conditions." Average annual earnings of Alcoa workers, the union said, are $1,000 a year less than average earnings of steel workers.

USW officials are seeking an aluminum industry contract similar to that on which basic agreement was reached with the steel industry last week.

Holds First News Confab Since June 9

Says Nixon Is Still Acceptable To Him As Vice President

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower today declared the Republican convention "open" to anybody who wants to run for vice president. But the only candidate he mentioned by name as acceptable to him was the man who holds the job now, Richard M. Nixon.

Eisenhower gave his carefully qualified views at the first news conference he has held since before his June 9 operation—and his first, of course, since aide Harold E. Stassen launched a drive to get Nixon off the 1956 ticket and put Massachusetts Gov. Christian A. Herter in his place.

The President looked a bit less vigorous than he did before the operation. His voice was somewhat husky and his speech just a little hesitant at times. He said he's feeling good — better every day, in fact, though not as well as he felt a year ago. And he said firmly he sees no reason why he shouldn't be able to serve a second term.

Record Crowd Of Newsmen

A record-equalling crowd of 311 correspondents turned up in the sweltering conference room to see how Eisenhower looked and to find out, if they could, how he felt about Stassen's effort to change the apparent lineup of the GOP ticket.

Two main lines of the President's feeling on this subject—which could produce a floor fight at the San Francisco convention —emerged:

1. He refused to say specifically that he wants Nixon—or any other particular person —as his running mate. He said San Francisco won't be a "cut and dried affair" — and that Nixon completely agrees. Far from rebuking Stassen, he declared the onetime Minnesota governor has done "a very splended job" as his disarmament aide and will be welcome back after his four-week leave.

2. He took issue, by plain implication with Stassen's charges that Nixon would weaken the ticket with American voters and would detract from American prestige abroad. Moreover, he declared nobody has talked to him about a "dump-Nixon" movement. "No one," Eisenhower added with a touch of sternness, "would have that effrontery."

Meaning Not Clear

The President's meaning was not quite clear on this point. Stassen has asked for, and been granted, a leave to promote Herter as a candidate—though Herter, only

Social Security Bill Is Signed By President

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed into law a precedent-setting Social Security bill permitting women to retire at 62 and disabled workers to draw benefits at 50.

In signing the bill, the President said in a statement:

"I am hopeful that this new law, on the whole, will advance the economic security of the American people."

The President said the law "contains certain major provisions which were recommended by the administration."

He added that it also includes provisions "about which the administration had serious reservations in their initial form," but those provisions "were modified and improved before their final enactment and now meet, in part, some of the administration's objections."

Elaborating, Eisenhower said an original proposal to lower the retirement age for all women was changed to provide that employed women and wives may accept reduced benefits at an earlier age or accept full benefits at 65.

Another original provision, Eisenhower said, proposed a 25 per cent increase in Social Security taxes on everyone covered by the system.

The new tax after Jan. 1 will be 2¼ per cent each for the employer and employe on the first $4,200 of annual earnings. It now is 2 per cent. Self-employed, now paying 3 per cent, will have their rate hiked to 3⅜ per cent.

The new disability benefits, estimated to average about $75 a month, are expected to go to about

Gen. Pate Testifies McKeon "Stupid"

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C., Aug. 1 (AP)—The nation's Marine Corps commandant said today he thought S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon should have been demoted for drinking and possibly court-martialed for leading a march April 8 on which six recruits drowned.

Gen. Randolph McC. Pate said that if it had been up to him he probably would have transferred McKeon from this recruit depot for "stupidity" and forbidden him to drill recruits again.

But Pate testified at McKeon's court-martial that he did not consider the sergeant guilty of oppressing recruits—one of the charges against him.

McKeon is charged with manslaughter, oppression and drinking on duty in connection with a night march of Platoon 71 into Ribbon Creek.

Pate was called to the stand as a defense witness. He termed discipline the core of Marine training. But he said he never would sanction "sheer brutalities."

Just before he walked into court, Pate met McKeon, 31, for the first time and said to the drill instructor:

"Good luck to you, boy."

Emile Zola Berman, defense attorney, posed a long hypothetical question to Pate. In it, Berman asked him to assume that everything happened April 8 as the defense sees it. Then Berman said:

"Assuming these facts, had the matter come to your attention in your official capacity, what action, sir, in your opinion, would you have taken?"

Pate replied:

"It is evident this drill instructor did drink some vodka and I assume that's against regulations. I think maybe I'd take a stripe away from him for that.

"For the remaining part—it's very fuzzy to me and I haven't heard the evidence — I suspect I would probably have transferred him away for stupidity, more politely bad judgment, and made a note in his record book that under no conditions could he ever drill recruits again. That's not a final judgment, but just my opinion."

Long's Power Seen Waning

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1 (AP)—Louisiana today wondered how much political power remained in the hands of Gov. Earl Long, who tried but failed in an effort to defeat two congressmen.

The representatives smashed to easy victories in yesterday's Democratic primary.

Rep. T. A. Thompson won his third term by polling more than twice as many votes as his three opponents combined.

Rep. Otto Passman, nominated for an 11th term, had a 5-1 margin over his two opponents.

Long's winnfield home said the governor would not be available for comment until tomorrow. But radio station KALB, Alexandria, quoted the governor as saying, "The people have made their choice, and all I can do is to go along with them."

Long who swept to a first primary victory in January, had personally stumped through southwest Louisiana to oppose Thompson's bid for renomination, which means election in this Democratic Deep South state. Long also backed Passman's opponents but did not campaign in the district.

In other races, Sen. Russell Long and Rep. F. Edward Hebert in the 1st Dist. and Rep. Edwin E. Willis in the 3rd won without opposition.

The other congressional incumbents also won renomination, including Reps. Hale Boggs in the 2nd Dist. Overton Brooks in the 4th, James Morrison in the 6th and Dr. George Long, the governor's brother, in the 8th.

Southern Demos Caucus To Plan Agreed Platform

ATLANTA, Aug. 1 (AP) — Democratic leaders from 11 Southern states met today with the avowed purpose of getting a platform acceptable to the South, but "working within the Democratic party."

The keynote of the meeting, called by Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. of South Carolina and Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia, was given by Timmerman before the group went into executive session.

"Our purpose," Timmerman said, "is to try to work together to secure a platform acceptable to the South and the rest of the nation, but working within the framework of the Democratic party.

"We recognize that other states have their problems and we ask them to recognize that we in the South have ours."

Earlier, Griffin, in a welcoming address, said "I cannot call to mind a similar meeting held during this century ... any meeting ... called to promote unity of purpose and to establish the Southern viewpoint in the councils of the Democratic party."

In his opinion, Griffin said, "we have never been faced before in our history with greater threats to the destruction of constitutional government and to the total abrogation of state sovereignty. The creed of democracy as espoused by Jefferson and Jackson is being superseded by an insidious brand of Washington democracy."

The meeting went into executive session on a motion by Camille Gravell, chairman of the Louisiana delegation.

Before the meeting began, three party leaders cautiously predicted there would be unity at the Chicago convention.

Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, the party's 1952 vice presidential nominee, expressed belief there is "a determined effort in the Democratic party today to work out our differences."

On the touchy civil rights issue, which is the one of primary interest to the Southerners gathered here, Sparkman declared "there is more understanding of our situation than I have ever seen before," in other parts of the country.

Olds' Body Found In Lake

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 1 (AP)—H. Kendall Olds, administrative assistant to deposed state auditor Orville E. Hodge, was found dead today, his body floating in Lake Springfield.

Olds, whose name was not figured in the Hodge million dollar state check cashing scandal, had been chiefly engaged in doing public relations work for the resigned auditor. He was described as "personally devoted" to Hodge.

Olds, 46, married and the father of a 10-year-old daughter, left home at 8 p.m. yesterday. He was seen later, alone and appearing glum, in a tavern near Lake Springfield, some 12 miles from the state capital.

His clothed body was found at 9:30 a.m. today, a few feet off shore — about four miles from Hodge's sumptuous home on Lake Springfield. On shore, nearby, was parked the state car assigned to him. Cigaret stubs littered the ground around the car. A vial of pills was on the car's front seat.

Today was the Olds' 12th wedding anniversary.

Coroner William C. Telford ordered an autopsy to determine the cause of death. He said he expected a report Monday. He said there were no marks of violence on Olds body to indicate foul play. No notes were found.

Adlai's Election Would Surprise Premier Bulganin

MOSCOW, Aug. 1 (AP)—Premier Nikolai Bulganin said today he would be "very surprised" if Adlai Stevenson were elected president.

He made the remark to a visiting American reporter at a party at the Swiss legation. The reporter remarked he was leaving next week "to watch the Democrats nominate Stevenson."

Bulganin's translator rendered the word nominate as "elect." Bulganin then said "I would be very surprised if he is elected."

RR Net Income Down

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Assn. of American Railroads today estimated the nation's class 1 railroads, after interest and rentals, had a net income of 77 million dollars in June compared to 88 million dollars in June 1955.

Net income for the first six months, also after interest and rentals, was estimated at 399 million dollars. This compares with 416 million dollars during January-June 1955.

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 1 (AP)—Albert Woolson, 109, sole survivor of the Union Army of the Civil War, remained in critical condition today at St. Luke's Hospital.

Swindling Sam Engel, 84, Dies In State Hospital

KANKAKEE, Ill., Aug. 1 (AP)—Sigmund (Swindling Sam) Engel, 84, confidence man who specialized in swindling well-heeled widows, died today in Kankakee State Hospital.

He frequently used the first name of Sam and posed as Sam Engel, Hollywood movie producer. His bag of tricks included taking women to theaters where Engel productions were showing and pointing out the name when picture credits were flashed on the screen.

Engel's career as a swindler spanned 50 years and several continents. He used 32 different names, obtained more than a million dollars from more than 50 women, and spent 23 years of his life in prisons.

Engel was transferred to Kankakee in April from Menard State Penitentiary where he was serving a 1950 sentence of 2 to 10 years for swindling a 39-year-old Chicago widow out of $8,700.

The hospital is a mental institution. Engel was confined there as a senile patient.

Hospital spokesmen said he had no family so far as they knew. Mrs. Pauline Langton of New York was listed as his only relative.

A blonde in her 40s, Mrs. Langton married Engel six days after they met in New York in 1948. She accused him of leaving five days afterward with $50,000 worth of her jewelry and $8,000 in cash. She divorced him in 1953.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow in a mortician's chapel. Burial will be in Walheim Cemetery, Chicago.

Boston Post Again Closes Down, Payrolls Not Met

BOSTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Boston Post apparently was shut down again tonight—the second time in less than a month.

Publisher John Fox failed to meet a promised 3 p.m. deadline for paying off back salaries and other overdue items, and members of key unions walked out of the plant. The Post has about 800 employes.

Fox could not be reached for comment. Other Post executives were not available or said they knew nothing of the latest developments.

Spokesmen for the unions made it clear their stand was "no pay, no work." The first employes to leave their posts and congregate on the sidewalk outside were members of the printers and engravers' unions and of the American Newspaper Guild, composed chiefly of newsroom employes.

Some 400 members of the Post unit of the Guild held a meeting and said in a resolution they considered themselves discharged from their jobs.

The Guild said the following resolution was adopted unanimously:

"The membership of the Guild will be glad to make additional sacrifices to keep the Post going if Mr. Fox will remove himself from the picture and allow the Grozier estate to proceed with the sale of the paper to some responsible party," the resolution said.

Several persons have shown interest in buying the paper, but the latest such negotiations collapsed five days ago.

The Grozier estate is that of Richard Grozier, late owner and publisher of the Post. The Grozier estate sold the paper to Fox in 1952 but claims that the full purchase price hasn't yet been paid. Fox claims in a counter suit that he had overpaid the purchase price.

Union sources said the amount due the employes today was about $150,000. Included in the sum were back payments to health, welfare and retirement funds, vacation pay, expense accounts, back salary, etc.

Westinghouse Plans Boost In Prices

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Westinghouse Electric Co., today announced a 1 to 10 per cent boost in prices on major appliances effective Aug. 15, with the exception of laundry equipment.

"We would have had to increase prices regardless of whether the price of steel went up or not," he said.

He indicated that prices on Westinghouse's portable appliances might go up in the near future.

Sign Of Weakening

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 1 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru said tonight Egypt's nationalization of the Suez Canal "is a sign of the weakening of European domination of Asia and the Middle East which has lasted more than 100 years."

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—Fluoridation of Chicago's entire water supply went into effect today. Since May 1 only certain South Side neighborhoods had been receiving fluoridated water.

International Meeting On Suez Is Agreed Upon

Egypt, Russia Included In Plans To Control Canal

LONDON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The foreign ministers of Britain, France and the United States agreed tonight to call an international meeting—including Egypt and the Soviet Union—to establish international control of the Suez Canal.

The agreement was disclosed by an American informant who said "the possibility of forceful action" has receded.

He said that during U.S. Secretary of State Dulles' meetings today with Prime Minister Eden and the British and French foreign ministers the possible use of force to insure international control of the canal appeared to have been accepted as "a last resort."

Presumably only a hostile act by Egypt against British or French ships would bring military action by those countries.

Would Repel "Pirates"

In Alexandria, President Gamal Abdel Nasser, whose decree nationalizing the canal angered and alarmed both Britain and France, declared Egypt would "repel the pirates" threatening his country "if they violate Egyptian rights in the canal dispute or on Egyptian soil."

Nasser told a Boy Scout meeting that Egypt would defend the canal to assure freedom of navigation. He spoke shortly after reports were received from London saying Britain was determined to use force to prevent Egyptian interference with canal shipping. This report was based on a statement by an authoritive British source, who said Britain would act alone if necessary in case Egypt rejects an internationally negotiated control system.

The projected international conference is expected to be held within one month, possibly by mid-August. The American source said it has not yet been settled who will convene the meeting.

The Big Three decision to invite both Russia and Egypt appeared an acceptance of the U.S. point of view.

Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov and French Ambassador Maurice DeJean conversed at length tonight at a Swiss legation reception in Moscow. DeJean declined to reveal what they discussed. But it was considered certain the subjects included both the Suez dispute and the nationalist rebellion against France in Algeria.

Long's Power Seen Waning

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 1 (AP)—Louisiana today wondered how much political power remained in the hands of Gov. Earl Long, who tried but failed in an effort to defeat two congressmen.

The representatives smashed to easy victories in yesterday's Democratic primary.

Rep. T. A. Thompson won his third term by polling more than twice as many votes as his three opponents combined.

Rep. Otto Passman, nominated for an 11th term, had a 5-1 margin over his two opponents.

Long's winnfield home said the governor would not be available for comment until tomorrow. But radio station KALB, Alexandria, quoted the governor as saying, "The people have made their choice, and all I can do is to go along with them."

Long who swept to a first primary victory in January, had personally stumped through southwest Louisiana to oppose Thompson's bid for renomination, which means election in this Democratic Deep South state. Long also backed Passman's opponents but did not campaign in the district.

In other races, Sen. Russell Long and Rep. F. Edward Hebert in the 1st Dist. and Rep. Edwin E. Willis in the 3rd won without opposition.

The other congressional incumbents also won renomination, including Reps. Hale Boggs in the 2nd Dist. Overton Brooks in the 4th, James Morrison in the 6th and Dr. George Long, the governor's brother, in the 8th.

Russia Aid For Dam Not Asked

28,000 Workers In Aluminum Plants Strike

BULLETIN

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1 (AP) — Tentative agreement was reached tonight on a new contract to avert a strike by 15,000 workers employed in nine plants of the Aluminum Co. of America. The agreement was reached just a few minutes before a midnight strike deadline set by the Aluminum Workers International Union.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)— The nation's aluminum industry was hit today by a strike of 28,000 workers in 21 plants. However, a strike deadline was extended for 20,500 workers in 19 other plants where a separate union has jurisdiction.

The walkout was called by the United Steelworkers of America, which was simultaneously engaged in drawing up new contracts to end the month-long steel strike.

The new strike, result of a wage dispute, halted operations at 12 plants of the Aluminum Co. of America (Alcoa) and nine of the Reynolds Metals Co.

Meanwhile, the Aluminum Workers International Union extended its strike deadline 24 hours —until midnight tonight—for 10 Reynolds and nine Alcoa plants.

The plants closed by the USW produce about 50 per cent of the nation's aluminum.

A USW spokesman said the union was ready to resume negotiations but that no talks had been scheduled with either Alcoa, the nation's largest aluminum producer, or with Reynolds, second in production.

The union issued a statement attacking the "attitude of Alcoa throughout the negotiations" and particularly today.

"Instead of sending its representatives to meet with the union, an Alcoa official simply phoned and said he and his associates were leaving New York to return to Pittsburgh," the USW statement said.

It charged that Alcoa "insists that its employes accept substandard wages and inferior working conditions." Average annual earnings of Alcoa workers, the union said, are $1,000 a year less than average earnings of steel workers.

USW officials are seeking an aluminum industry contract similar to that on which basic agreement was reached with the steel industry last week.

Southern Demos Caucus To Plan Agreed Platform

ATLANTA, Aug. 1 (AP) — Democratic leaders from 11 Southern states met today with the avowed purpose of getting a platform acceptable to the South, but "working within the Democratic party."

The keynote of the meeting, called by Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. of South Carolina and Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia, was given by Timmerman before the group went into executive session.

"Our purpose," Timmerman said, "is to try to work together to secure a platform acceptable to the South and the rest of the nation, but working within the framework of the Democratic party.

"We recognize that other states have their problems and we ask them to recognize that we in the South have ours."

Earlier, Griffin, in a welcoming address, said "I cannot call to mind a similar meeting held during this century ... any meeting ... called to promote unity of purpose and to establish the Southern viewpoint in the councils of the Democratic party."

In his opinion, Griffin said, "we have never been faced before in our history with greater threats to the destruction of constitutional government and to the total abrogation of state sovereignty. The creed of democracy as espoused by Jefferson and Jackson is being superseded by an insidious brand of Washington democracy."

The meeting went into executive session on a motion by Camille Gravell, chairman of the Louisiana delegation.

Before the meeting began, three party leaders cautiously predicted there would be unity at the Chicago convention.

Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, the party's 1952 vice presidential nominee, expressed belief there is "a determined effort in the Democratic party today to work out our differences."

On the touchy civil rights issue, which is the one of primary interest to the Southerners gathered here, Sparkman declared "there is more understanding of our situation than I have ever seen before," in other parts of the country.

Westinghouse Plans Boost In Prices

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Westinghouse Electric Co., today announced a 1 to 10 per cent boost in prices on major appliances effective Aug. 15, with the exception of laundry equipment.

A spokesman for the company said prices have remained stable on Westinghouse appliances for the last three years.

"We would have had to increase prices regardless of whether the price of steel went up or not," he said.

He indicated that prices on Westinghouse's portable appliances might go up in the near future.

Income Is Up

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP) — Cities Service Co. reported today a net income of $30,405,000, or $3.01 a share, for the first half of 1956, compared with $25,349,000, or $2.56 a share for the same period last year.

Holds First News Confab Since June 9

Says Nixon Is Still Acceptable To Him As Vice President

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower today declared the Republican convention "open" to anybody who wants to run for vice president. But the only candidate he mentioned by name as acceptable to him was the man who holds the job now, Richard M. Nixon.

Eisenhower gave his carefully qualified views at the first news conference he has held since before his June 9 operation—and his first, of course, since aide Harold E. Stassen launched a drive to get Nixon off the 1956 ticket and put Massachusetts Gov. Christian A. Herter in his place.

The President looked a bit less vigorous than he did before the operation. His voice was somewhat husky and his speech just a little hesitant at times. He said he's feeling good — better every day, in fact, though not as well as he felt a year ago. And he said firmly he sees no reason why he shouldn't be able to serve a second term.

Record Crowd Of Newsmen

A record-equalling crowd of 311 correspondents turned up in the sweltering conference room to see how Eisenhower looked and to find out, if they could, how he felt about Stassen's effort to change the apparent lineup of the GOP ticket.

Two main lines of the President's feeling on this subject—which could produce a floor fight at the San Francisco convention —emerged:

1. He refused to say specifically that he wants Nixon—or any other particular person —as his running mate. He said San Francisco won't be a "cut and dried affair" — and that Nixon completely agrees. Far from rebuking Stassen, he declared the onetime Minnesota governor has done "a very splended job" as his disarmament aide and will be welcome back after his four-week leave.

2. He took issue, by plain implication with Stassen's charges that Nixon would weaken the ticket with American voters and would detract from American prestige abroad. Moreover, he declared nobody has talked to him about a "dump-Nixon" movement. "No one," Eisenhower added with a touch of sternness, "would have that effrontery."

Meaning Not Clear

The President's meaning was not quite clear on this point. Stassen has asked for, and been granted, a leave to promote Herter as a candidate—though Herter, only

RR Net Income Down

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Assn. of American Railroads today estimated the nation's class 1 railroads, after interest and rentals, had a net income of 77 million dollars in June compared to 88 million dollars in June 1955.

Net income for the first six months, also after interest and rentals, was estimated at 399 million dollars. This compares with 416 million dollars during January-June 1955.

Woolson Remains Critical In Hospital

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 1 (AP)—Albert Woolson, 109, sole survivor of the Union Army of the Civil War, remained in critical condition today at St. Luke's Hospital.

The old soldier, hospitalized for nine weeks with lung congestion, lapsed into a coma early Saturday. He was being fed intravenously and was receiving oxygen through a nasal tube.

Boston Post Again Closes Down, Payrolls Not Met

BOSTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Boston Post apparently was shut down again tonight—the second time in less than a month.

Publisher John Fox failed to meet a promised 3 p.m. deadline for paying off back salaries and other overdue items, and members of key unions walked out of the plant. The Post has about 800 employes.

Fox could not be reached for comment. Other Post executives were not available or said they knew nothing of the latest developments.

Spokesmen for the unions made it clear their stand was "no pay, no work." The first employes to leave their posts and congregate on the sidewalk outside were members of the printers and engravers' unions and of the American Newspaper Guild, composed chiefly of newsroom employes.

Some 400 members of the Post unit of the Guild held a meeting and said in a resolution they considered themselves discharged from their jobs.

The Guild said the following resolution was adopted unanimously:

"The membership of the Guild will be glad to make additional sacrifices to keep the Post going if Mr. Fox will remove himself from the picture and allow the Grozier estate to proceed with the sale of the paper to some responsible party," the resolution said.

Several persons have shown interest in buying the paper, but the latest such negotiations collapsed five days ago.

The Grozier estate is that of Richard Grozier, late owner and publisher of the Post. The Grozier estate sold the paper to Fox in 1952 but claims that the full purchase price hasn't yet been paid. Fox claims in a counter suit that he had overpaid the purchase price.

Union sources said the amount due the employes today was about $150,000. Included in the sum were back payments to health, welfare and retirement funds, vacation pay, expense accounts, back salary, etc.

Typhoon Wanda Heads For China

TOKYO, Aug. 1 (AP) — Typhoon Wanda sideswiped Okinawa and northern Formosa today, inflicting heavy damage and flooding out thousands of natives before heading for Communist China.

On Formosa, more than 6,000 were reported homeless in the Taipei area, which was lashed by gusts up to 55 m.p.h.

KANKAKEE, Ill., Aug. 1 (AP)—Sigmund (Swindling Sam) Engel, 84, confidence man who specialized in swindling well-heeled widows, died today in Kankakee State Hospital.

He frequently used the first name of Sam and posed as Sam Engel, Hollywood movie producer. His bag of tricks included taking women to theaters where Engel productions were showing and pointing out the name when picture credits were flashed on the screen.

Engel's career as a swindler spanned 50 years and several continents. He used 32 different names, obtained more than a million dollars from more than 50 women, and spent 23 years of his life in prisons.

Engel was transferred to Kankakee in April from Menard State Penitentiary where he was serving a 1950 sentence of 2 to 10 years for swindling a 39-year-old Chicago widow out of $8,700.

The hospital is a mental institution. Engel was confined there as a senile patient.

Hospital spokesmen said he had no family so far as they knew. Mrs. Pauline Langton of New York was listed as his only relative.

A blonde in her 40s, Mrs. Langton married Engel six days after they met in New York in 1948. She accused him of leaving five days afterward with $50,000 worth of her jewelry and $8,000 in cash. She divorced him in 1953.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow in a mortician's chapel. Burial will be in Walheim Cemetery, Chicago.

Honduras Revolt Is Beaten Down

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Honduras government announced this afternoon it had crushed an abortive uprising after a seven-hour battle.

One rebel leader, Maj. Juan Pablo Silva, was reported killed and 100 taken prisoner.

The government said the rebels launched their attack shortly after midnight, seizing the San Francisco Armory not far from the capital's business district.

Other dead and wounded were reported. No count was immediately available.

The government said the uprising was engineered by a Villedista-Communist coalition. The Villedistas are followers of defeated presidential candidate Dr. Ramon Villeda Morales who has been exiled to Costa Rica.

The government said the insurgents organized patrols in an effort to take over the city by force.

"Police units captured several of these patrols," the government said, "and then government troops surrounded the armory.

"Government mortar fire caused the rebels to surrender this morning at 9 a.m."

A spokesman for the government said among the leaders was "Exequiel Escoto, newspaper columnist for the Liberal newspaper El Pueblo and a known Communist sympathizer, and Carlos Somoza, an alleged labor agitator responsible for many recent disturbances among Honduran laborers along the country's north coast. Escoto was among those wounded. The uprising was completely unsupported by the general population."

The spokesman said "the government alleges that the rebels who carried out this uprising are the same men responsible for anti-U.S. demonstrations, as well as recent parades and riots by university students."

Lawyer Calls Homeopaths 'Carpetbaggers'

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1 (AP)—A State lawyer declared in court today that Dr. Robert H. Reddick enabled "the greatest gang of carpetbagger medical men in the world" to operate in Maryland.

Norman P. Ramsey, deputy attorney general, made the assertion in asking Circuit Judge Joseph R. Byrnes to dissolve a homeopathic board of medical examiners formed by Reddick.

As the 10-day case ended, he asked the court to rule that the legal board is one headed by Dr. Julius Chepko of Westminster, Md. This board split with Reddick over whether certain applicants were qualified to take the examinations leading to licenses to practice medicine and surgery in Maryland.

Ramsey accused Reddick, chief psychiatrist at Eastern Shore State Hospital in Cambridge, Md., of setting himself up as a "one-man licensing bureau" after his split with the Chepko board.

The deputy attorney general said Reddick persisted in licensing graduates of Fremont College and Western Medical School, both in California, after the State-recognized board refused to accept these schools as qualified.

Reddick packed the Maryland State Homeopathic Society with out-of-State persons whom he had licensed, declared Ramsey, then successfully plotted to have the society oust the valid examining board and "put the rubber stamp on whatever Dr. Reddick did."

The State also contended that the only accrediting agency which recognized Fremont College was one founded by the college president himself, Joseph W. Hough.

Testifying earlier in the case, Hough said he was a graduate of a medical school in Mexico whose address he could not remember and which he attended part-time for several years. He said his diploma was signed by a man who, Ramsey showed, was convicted and jailed for forging diplomas.

Hyman A. Pressman, defense attorney, did not dispute these points but said the entire case was invalid because the attorney general had no right to intervene in the affairs of the homeopathic society.

24 hours after Stassen's original announcement of his plans pulled the rug part way from under the movement by agreeing to put Nixon's name before the convention himself.

This campaign by Stassen had every sign of a "dump-Nixon" attempt even though he probably hasn't used those exact words in his talks with Eisenhower.

Stassen said he thought the President "made exactly the right statement" on the question at today's news conference. In a statement issued shortly after the conference Stassen repeated his belief an Eisenhower-Herter ticket would be stronger than an Eisenhower-Nixon slate. He added:

"The convention is now definitely open. The problem of the vice presidential nomination can now be considered deliberately and thoughtfully for the next three weeks. The American people can now make their views known to the delegate."

and dark glasses. Sevier asked Pate to assume a set of facts in connection with himself that corresponded with the prosecution's case. Then he asked:

"What would you do to me?"

The general replied:

"I would assume I would—this is off the cuff—I think I would probably consider you the most stupid individual I had ever met, although as I said before, poor judgment would be a better term.

"It might be necessary to award you a court-martial as to the degree of your guilt."

Pate was asked by the trial judge, Irving N. Klein, if he had not gone along with a court of inquiry determination to court-martial McKeon.

"I did. Yes, sir," Pate replied.

The general was on the stand just 54 minutes.

Pate strode into the school building that serves as a courthouse and into the defense chambers as military police clicked heels smartly at his passage. He strode up to McKeon and told him:

"Sergeant, it's nice to see you. I'm glad to help you in any way I can to see that the interests of justice are met. Where's your wife? I'd like to meet her."

Under a keen, calm cross-examination by Sevier, McKeon admitted he hadn't ever reconnoitered the Ribbon Creek area where the recruits drowned. Nor did he keep his platoon in regular formation after they were in the water, he added.

The defense claims the recruits drowned because they wandered away from the column and into deep water.

At another point in the cross-examination, McKeon protested:

"If I thought for one minute one of those kids would drown, I'd never have taken them in."

Of the day after the Sunday night tragedy, McKeon testified:

"I would have walked to the gallows that morning."

He said he felt it his duty to teach discipline to his platoon and that the march was an accepted practice. But he conceded he had no right to punish his recruits. He denied the march was punitive.

McKeon left the witness stand, his eyes hot with tears, his usually erect figure limply drooping, at 10:32 a.m. He began testimony in his own defense at 10:22 a.m. yesterday.

"Four Aces" Could Be Bad Hand For Youths To Hold

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1 (AP)—"Four Aces" may soon prove to be the unluckiest hand a Maryland teenager can hold.

Baltimore County police have arrested 15 juveniles and one adult in what is believed to be the start of a crackdown on a statewide gang known as the "Four Aces."

Police said they believed the group was being directed by adults in wholesale thefts of auto parts.

Capt. Gilbert L. Deyle, chief of Baltimore County detectives, said the gang is believed to have a Maryland membership of about 2,000. He said more arrests and charges are expected soon.

The adult arrested was identified as Arthur Lee Hash, 23, alias "Injun," of Baltimore. He was charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Lt. Edner Story, chief of the county juvenile bureau, said Hash described himself as the leader and organizer of the "Four Aces" but denied any knowledge of criminal activities of the members.

Captain Deyle said the club was originally set up to obtain a roadway for hot-rod races but its principal activities now were the stealing and selling of automobile parts and the purchase of intoxicating beverages for young girl members.

The 15 teenagers now held include some girl students at the North Point Junior High School who have been charged with drinking. The charges against the young boys are mainly for stealing automobile parts.

Capt. Deyle said "Four Aces" membership in the Dundalk, Middle River and Edgemere sections totaled between 350 and 400 youngsters. The group has grown to such proportions that many meetings have been held in a cemetery in eastern Baltimore County.

Deyle described the "Four Aces" as a secret society organized from top to bottom with "lieutenants" and "sergeants" in each section to relay and carry out the leader's orders.

The group's membership is so secret, Deyle said, that Hash kept the only known list of members in a tin can buried in a swamp at the rear of his home. The list included the names of 32 girls, Deyle said.

Nikita Khrushchev yesterday backed Egyptian seizure of the canal as completely legal, and urged moderation on the British and French governments. The restrained tone of his speech suggested to Western diplomats that the Soviet Union is anxious to prevent military conflict in the Middle East and is just as interested as the West in freedom of the Suez Canal.

The American opinion purportedly is that any international conference should strive for a satisfactory settlement through sincere negotiations.

Britain and France, on the other hand, have been pressing for two conferences.

The first, between like-minded states, would be to draft rules for the future operations of the canal. These then would be presented to a wider conference, including the Russians and the Egyptians.

Whether the rules were found to be generally acceptable or not, the British and French were reported prepared to enforce them.

Nasser has promised formally to all the nations of the world that he will respect the right of free passage through Suez despite his government's seizure of the internationally constituted company which has been running the canal on a concession basis since 1869.

But, informants said, Dulles made clear in his talks today that the United States, like Britain and France, feels it cannot rely on Nasser's word. Dulles therefore indicated to the other ministers that the United States is ready to press for some form of international control.

Many Drivers Need Education

HAGERSTOWN, Aug. 1 (AP)—Some of the busiest drivers in Washington County apparently could stand to brush up on their work.

The Washington County Roads Department said today some of its drivers need more education about how to operate a vehicle.

Road Supervisor Eugene Geary said he gave driving tests to his 53 vehicle operators and found three of them rated "below standard" while 15 were at the "very minimum standard."

Sixteen county drivers rated "fair," 14 turned in "good" tests, five came off "very good" but none were "excellent."

The tests were made up by an insurance firm and rated the drivers in such areas as depth perception, braking reaction and field of vision.

Geary said he has ordered the drivers to take precautionary measures such as driving more slowly and following preceding vehicles more carefully.

The test was given the drivers for the first time as part of a safety campaign.

Brutality Main Reason Felons Fractured Legs

REIDSVILLE, Ga., Aug. 1 (AP)—Savage beatings, other brutality and indignity were described in stretcher interviews by convicts who smashed their legs with sledge hammers rather than serve in the Georgia Rock Quarry Prison for incorrigibles.

One declared, "Rather than go back, I rather they'd take me out and shoot me." He was Robert Smallwood, convicted in four counties on burglary, auto larceny and attempted murder charges.

Several said that despite the excruciating pain they would break their other leg rather than go back to the "hard rock" bastile near Buford, 40 miles northeast of Atlanta and about 200 north of here.

Brought here for treatment at the state's central prison, they were interviewed by John Pennington of the Atlanta Journal in the presence of Warden R. P. Balkcom Jr.

Pennington reported that several told about an incident of prison savagery of which he had heard earlier from a nonprison source. One convict, he related, said a Negro, Mickey Dennard, was "just about beaten to death" last week by a quarry "boss" or guard named also as having beaten other prisoners with a stick.

James Hall, 22, in the Rock Quarry Prison two years, declared, "They beat me and shot me and everything else." W. H. McSwain, 22, there almost three years for auto larceny, said, "They done wore me out. I couldn't go no further."

The state director of corrections, Jack Forrester, first declared that no investigation into the leg-smashing spree would be necessary but he changed his mind and a full-dress public inquiry is now in prospect.

Man Kills Self With Gun Playing "Russian Roulette"

OCEAN CITY, Md., Aug. 1 (AP)—A former Ocean City policeman killed himself in a game of Russian roulette last night at the hot dog stand he operated in West Ocean City.

State police identified the victim as James Richard Melvin, married and the father of one child.

Police said Melvin was talking with waitress Colleen Landon when he suddenly asked her if she had ever played Russian roulette. He pulled out a .32 caliber revolver, pointed it at his head and pulled the trigger, they reported.

Dr. Francis J. Townsend Jr., deputy medical examiner, pronounced Melvin dead at the scene. He said there were three cartridges in the revolver, giving Melvin a 50-50 chance of hitting an empty chamber.

Honduras Revolt Is Beaten Down

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Honduras government announced this afternoon it had crushed an abortive uprising after a seven-hour battle.

One rebel leader, Maj. Juan Pablo Silva, was reported killed and 100 taken prisoner.

The government said the rebels launched their attack shortly after midnight, seizing the San Francisco Armory not far from the capital's business district.

Other dead and wounded were reported. No count was immediately available.

The government said the uprising was engineered by a Villedista-Communist coalition. The Villedistas are followers of defeated presidential candidate Dr. Ramon Villeda Morales who has been exiled to Costa Rica.

The government said the insurgents organized patrols in an effort to take over the city by force.

"Police units captured several of these patrols," the government said, "and then government troops surrounded the armory.

"Government mortar fire caused the rebels to surrender this morning at 9 a.m."

A spokesman for the government said among the leaders was "Exequiel Escoto, newspaper columnist for the Liberal newspaper El Pueblo and a known Communist sympathizer, and Carlos Somoza, an alleged labor agitator responsible for many recent disturbances among Honduran laborers along the country's north coast. Escoto was among those wounded. The uprising was completely unsupported by the general population."

The spokesman said "the government alleges that the rebels who carried out this uprising are the same men responsible for anti-U.S. demonstrations, as well as recent parades and riots by university students."

Lawyer Calls Homeopaths 'Carpetbaggers'

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1 (AP)—A State lawyer declared in court today that Dr. Robert H. Reddick enabled "the greatest gang of carpetbagger medical men in the world" to operate in Maryland.

Norman P. Ramsey, deputy attorney general, made the assertion in asking Circuit Judge Joseph R. Byrnes to dissolve a homeopathic board of medical examiners formed by Reddick.

As the 10-day case ended, he asked the court to rule that the legal board is one headed by Dr. Julius Chepko of Westminster, Md. This board split with Reddick over whether certain applicants were qualified to take the examinations leading to licenses to practice medicine and surgery in Maryland.

Ramsey accused Reddick, chief psychiatrist at Eastern Shore State Hospital in Cambridge, Md., of setting himself up as a "one-man licensing bureau" after his split with the Chepko board.

The deputy attorney general said Reddick persisted in licensing graduates of Fremont College and Western Medical School, both in California, after the State-recognized board refused to accept these schools as qualified.

Reddick packed the Maryland State Homeopathic Society with out-of-State persons whom he had licensed, declared Ramsey, then successfully plotted to have the society oust the valid examining board and "put the rubber stamp on whatever Dr. Reddick did."

The State also contended that the only accrediting agency which recognized Fremont College was one founded by the college president himself, Joseph W. Hough.

Testifying earlier in the case, Hough said he was a graduate of a medical school in Mexico whose address he could not remember and which he attended part-time for several years. He said his diploma was signed by a man who, Ramsey showed, was convicted and jailed for forging diplomas.

Hyman A. Pressman, defense attorney, did not dispute these points but said the entire case was invalid because the attorney general had no right to intervene in the affairs of the homeopathic society.

24 hours after Stassen's original announcement of his plans pulled the rug part way from under the movement by agreeing to put Nixon's name before the convention himself.

This campaign by Stassen had every sign of a "dump-Nixon" attempt even though he probably hasn't used those exact words in his talks with Eisenhower.

Stassen said he thought the President "made exactly the right statement" on the question at today's news conference. In a statement issued shortly after the conference Stassen repeated his belief an Eisenhower-Herter ticket would be stronger than an Eisenhower-Nixon slate. He added:

"The convention is now definitely open. The problem of the vice presidential nomination can now be considered deliberately and thoughtfully for the next three weeks. The American people can now make their views known to the delegate."

Gen. Testifies

and dark glasses. Sevier asked Pate to assume a set of facts in connection with himself that corresponded with the prosecution's case. Then he asked:

"What would you do to me?"

The general replied:

"I would assume I would—this is off the cuff—I think I would probably consider you the most stupid individual I had ever met, although as I said before, poor judgment would be a better term.

"It might be necessary to award you a court-martial as to the degree of your guilt."

Pate was asked by the trial judge, Irving N. Klein, if he had not gone along with a court of inquiry determination to court-martial McKeon.

"I did. Yes, sir," Pate replied.

The general was on the stand just 54 minutes.

Pate strode into the school building that serves as a courthouse and into the defense chambers as military police clicked heels smartly at his passage. He strode up to McKeon and told him:

"Sergeant, it's nice to see you. I'm glad to help you in any way I can to see that the interests of justice are met. Where's your wife? I'd like to meet her."

Under a keen, calm cross-examination by Sevier, McKeon admitted he hadn't ever reconnoitered the Ribbon Creek area where the recruits drowned. Nor did he keep his platoon in regular formation after they were in the water, he added.

The defense claims the recruits drowned because they wandered away from the column and into deep water.

At another point in the cross-examination, McKeon protested:

"If I thought for one minute one of those kids would drown, I'd never have taken them in."

Of the day after the Sunday night tragedy, McKeon testified:

"I would have walked to the gallows that morning."

He said he felt it his duty to teach discipline to his platoon and that the march was an accepted practice. But he conceded he had no right to punish his recruits. He denied the march was punitive.

McKeon left the witness stand, his eyes hot with tears, his usually erect figure limply drooping, at 10:32 a.m. He began testimony in his own defense at 10:22 a.m. yesterday.

To Probe Collision

ROME, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Italian government today named an eight-man commission of high ranking officers to investigate the sinking of the Andrea Doria at sessions in Rome and Genoa.

SAW PLANES COLLIDE—Eugene J. Siefer of Ottawa, Ohio, uses his hands to illustrate the positions of two planes which he told a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing yesterday he saw "converge" and fly on as if "stuck together" on the day a Trans World Airlines constellation and a United Air Lines DC7 crashed in the Grand Canyon with the loss of 128 lives. "Four Aces" Could Be Bad Hand For Youths To Hold

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1 (AP)—"Four Aces" may soon prove to be the unluckiest hand a Maryland teenager can hold.

Baltimore County police have arrested 15 juveniles and one adult in what is believed to be the start of a crackdown on a statewide gang known as the "Four Aces."

Police said they believed the group was being directed by adults in wholesale thefts of auto parts.

Capt. Gilbert L. Deyle, chief of Baltimore County detectives, said the gang is believed to have a Maryland membership of about 2,000. He said more arrests and charges are expected soon.

The adult arrested was identified as Arthur Lee Hash, 23, alias "Injun," of Baltimore. He was charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Lt. Edner Story, chief of the county juvenile bureau, said Hash described himself as the leader and organizer of the "Four Aces" but denied any knowledge of criminal activities of the members.

Captain Deyle said the club was originally set up to obtain a roadway for hot-rod races but its principal activities now were the stealing and selling of automobile parts and the purchase of intoxicating beverages for young girl members.

The 15 teenagers now held include some girl students at the North Point Junior High School who have been charged with drinking. The charges against the young boys are mainly for stealing automobile parts.

Capt. Deyle said "Four Aces" membership in the Dundalk, Middle River and Edgemere sections totaled between 350 and 400 youngsters. The group has grown to such proportions that many meetings have been held in a cemetery in eastern Baltimore County.

Deyle described the "Four Aces" as a secret society organized from top to bottom with "lieutenants" and "sergeants" in each section to relay and carry out the leader's orders.

The group's membership is so secret, Deyle said, that Hash kept the only known list of members in a tin can buried in a swamp at the rear of his home. The list included the names of 32 girls, Deyle said.

International

Nikita Khrushchev yesterday backed Egyptian seizure of the canal as completely legal, and urged moderation on the British and French governments. The restrained tone of his speech suggested to Western diplomats that the Soviet Union is anxious to prevent military conflict in the Middle East and is just as interested as the West in freedom of the Suez Canal.

The American opinion purportedly is that any international conference should strive for a satisfactory settlement through sincere negotiations.

Britain and France, on the other hand, have been pressing for two conferences.

The first, between like-minded states, would be to draft rules for the future operations of the canal. These then would be presented to a wider conference, including the Russians and the Egyptians.

Whether the rules were found to be generally acceptable or not, the British and French were reported prepared to enforce them.

Nasser has promised formally to all the nations of the world that he will respect the right of free passage through Suez despite his government's seizure of the internationally constituted company which has been running the canal on a concession basis since 1869.

But, informants said, Dulles made clear in his talks today that the United States, like Britain and France, feels it cannot rely on Nasser's word. Dulles therefore indicated to the other ministers that the United States is ready to press for some form of international control.

The custom of funeral sermons is traced back to the primitive peoples of antiquity, who had certain ceremonies in connectoin with burial of the dead.

Many Drivers Need Education

HAGERSTOWN, Aug. 1 (AP)—Some of the busiest drivers in Washington County apparently could stand to brush up on their work.

The Washington County Roads Department said today some of its drivers need more education about how to operate a vehicle.

Road Supervisor Eugene Geary said he gave driving tests to his 53 vehicle operators and found three of them rated "below standard" while 15 were at the "very minimum standard."

Sixteen county drivers rated "fair," 14 turned in "good" tests, five came off "very good" but none were "excellent."

The tests were made up by an insurance firm and rated the drivers in such areas as depth perception, braking reaction and field of vision.

Geary said he has ordered the drivers to take precautionary measures such as driving more slowly and following preceding vehicles more carefully.

Brutality Main Reason Felons Fractured Legs

REIDSVILLE, Ga., Aug. 1 (AP)—Savage beatings, other brutality and indignity were described in stretcher interviews by convicts who smashed their legs with sledge hammers rather than serve in the Georgia Rock Quarry Prison for incorrigibles.

One declared, "Rather than go back, I rather they'd take me out and shoot me." He was Robert Smallwood, convicted in four counties on burglary, auto larceny and attempted murder charges.

Several said that despite the excruciating pain they would break their other leg rather than go back to the "hard rock" bastile near Buford, 40 miles northeast of Atlanta and about 200 north of here.

Brought here for treatment at the state's central prison, they were interviewed by John Penington of the Atlanta Journal in the presence of Warden R. P. Balkcom Jr.

Pennington reported that several told about an incident of prison savagery of which he had heard earlier from a nonprison source. One convict, he related, said a Negro, Mickey Dennard, was "just about beaten to death" last week by a quarry "boss" or guard named also as having beaten other prisoners with a stick.

James Hall, 22, in the Rock Quarry Prison two years, declared, "They beat me and shot me and everything else." W. H. McSwain, 22, there almost three years for auto larceny, said, "They done wore me out. I couldn't go no further."

The state director of corrections, Jack Forrester, first declared that no investigation into the leg-smashing spree would be necessary but he changed his mind and a full-dress public inquiry is now in prospect.

Man Kills Self With Gun Playing "Russian Roulette"

OCEAN CITY, Md., Aug. 1 (AP)—A former Ocean City policeman killed himself in a game of Russian roulette last night at the hot dog stand he operated in West Ocean City.

State police identified the victim as James Richard Melvin, married and the father of one child.

Police said Melvin was talking with waitress Colleen Landon when he suddenly asked her if she had ever played Russian roulette. He pulled out a .32 caliber revolver, pointed it at his head and pulled the trigger, they reported.

Dr. Francis J. Townsend Jr., deputy medical examiner, pronounced Melvin dead at the scene. He said there were three cartridges in the revolver, giving Melvin a 50-50 chance of hitting an empty chamber.

The support rate is designed to reflect 86 per cent of the parity price of peanuts. Last year's crop was supported at 90 per cent of parity.

The 1956 rates by types compared with the 1955 rates included: Virginia, $242.98 compared with $236.

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Aug. 1—(INS)—People . . . Places . . . Things . . .

Every man I've ever met would like to be a Lewis Cotlow. He is the only friend of mine living a double life with no chance of being sued. Lew is a successful New York insurance broker who is as much at home with the stone age people of the upper Amazon or the rollicking Mau Mau boys as he is on Pine Street, in the lea of the Wall Street palisades.

Member of the Explorers' Club, Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society of Great Britain, and past president of the Adventurers Club and the Circumnavigators Club, Lew has produced a new best seller in Zanzabuku (Rinehart and Co.). His Trucolor Production of the same dramatic record of his third big expedition will open here the middle of the month.

We saw a watermelon type wedge-sample of Zanzabuki ("Dangerous Safari") at the Explorers' Club dinner at the Waldorf last spring and it appears to be Cotlow's best. There's one shot of a rhino charging a jeep that will keep me from ever joining Cotlow on any expedition hardier than shaking for the drinks in some air-conditiongar.

Still, it must be nice to lead Lew's kind of life. Cotlow is one New Yorker I've never seen bored. Gored, perhaps, but never bored.

Speaking of big game hunting, Dan Eisenberg, who runs the "Forgotten Fortune" series for Editor Warden Woolard of the Los Angeles Examiner, is about to be featured in a 26-week TV series. Eisenberg has conducted the Tracers Company of America for the past 33 years. It searches out missing persons, mainly heirs, husbands and or wives on the lam, lost uncles (if rich enough), even tombstones. He figures he has dug up or interred about 500,000 people in that time.

There's now going to be more interest in the vice presidential race at Chicago and San Francisco than in the contest for the top spot. Looking back on American political history, this is almost like saying that the big interest in the American and National League pennant races this year is who finishes second in each loop.

Sen. Estes Kefauver's sudden capitulation to Adlai Stevenson ("I had my doubts about him but he has developed into a formidable campaigner who can define the issues clearly") is hailed in the Stevenson camp with almost the consternation that Harold Stassen's anti-Nixon campaign hit certain Republican quarters.

Kefauver has been saying for four years, that he has no interest in the vice presidency. Stassen has removed himself from political ambition "forever." Yet the feeling persists that neither move was a complete surprise, despite the furore each act caused. It just doesn't seem possible, in politics at least, that men as personally ambitious as Kefauver and Stassen, and with their followings, would engage in such apparent bridge-burning without hope of future gain.

How much did the steelworkers lose by striking? The precise truth may never be known. But in April the average weekly wage was $100.04, with take-home pay of $86.54 after deductions for taxes and social security. (Deductions for insurance were voluntary.) The 1952 strike lasted 54 days, for a average loss of $692. During the most recent strike, management pointed out that the worker would need more than 11 years to recover his losses from an 8-week strike which resulted in a 3-cent hourly gain.

Nasser hasn't been the same since he gave a news conference to some newspaper junketeers in 1955 and Harry Reutlinger of the Chicago American said to him, at the end of Nasser's remarks on land reform, "I guess you're going to whack up that land among your relatives, eh?"

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1—(INS)—I'm in a rut where this Tony Perkins is concerned, and I admit it. It's impossible to mention his name without predicting that Tony, son of the late Osgood Perkins, is the most shining talent to hit Hollywood since James Dean. Without a picture yet released (he's made five) he's the hottest property hereabouts.

Now it's MGM bidding for him for "All the Way Home," the Harry Essex novel coming out this fall. Ingo Preminger set the deal with Dore Schary for the story.

Tony's Paramount deal permits him outside pictures.

British Diana Dors who has all but dug in here buying a house and taking out citizenship, returns to London the end of the year at least long enough to make "The Long Haul." Robert Mitchum will be her co-star.

With "The Long Haul" out of the way, Diana belongs to RKO and Hollywood.

That fine old mambo expert Charlie Coburn (you've got to see him to believe how good he is) left Wednesday night for London to make "The Nylon Web," a thriller. John Mills has the lead and Ella Raines is all but set for the girl. It's for Todon Pictures with Maxwell Setton producing and John Gilliiamin directing.

The thing mostly on Charlie's mind is whether the London girls rhumba and mambo as well as the local variety. "Dancing," opines Charlie, "is good for you mentally, morally and physically."

Maggie Ettinger's new apartment, with its black floors, white throw rugs and her stunning paintings, is the smartest salon in town. Everyone who sees it says it looks like Paris.

At the vivacious Maggie's most recent soiree were Barbara Stanwyck, the Walter Langs, Nancy Sinatra, the Bob Cobbs, the Fred Winnetts, Bob Wagner (in full beard for his next movie), Katie and Ralph Dietrich, the Harry Brands, Mecca Graham, Howard Strickling, Joseph Schenck and Gordon Maynard.

Hollywood in shorts: Franchot Tone's girl friends giggling about the pointed white beard he's grown for his stage show, "Uncle Vanya." It tickles them.

Gloria Swanson, one of the attractions in Monte Carlo this season, has let her hair go completely gray. But she looks as glamorous as ever.

Speaking of Monte Carlo, Otto Preminger is the heaviest plunger at the Chemin de Fer tables.

Ethel Merman, walking into the bar at the George V in Paris and spotting Bob Cummings, Sonja Henie and assorted other Hollywoodites said, "Ha! There's a Romanoff's wherever you go!"

6500 enraptured London fans turned out for Esther Williams' $150,000 aqua-spectacle, a part-wet, part-dry show. Among the spectators giving the water baby from Hollywood a big hand were Yul Brynner, Deborah Kerr and Joan Crawford.

His Trucolor Production of the same dramatic record of his third big expedition will open here the middle of the month.

We saw a watermelon type wedge-sample of Zanzabuki ("Dangerous Safari") at the Explorers' Club dinner at the Waldorf last spring and it appears to be Cotlow's best. There's one shot of a rhino charging a jeep that will keep me from ever joining Cotlow on any expedition hardier than shaking for the drinks in some air-conditiongar.

Still, it must be nice to lead Lew's kind of life. Cotlow is one New Yorker I've never seen bored. Gored, perhaps, but never bored.

Speaking of big game hunting, Dan Eisenberg, who runs the "Forgotten Fortune" series for Editor Warden Woolard of the Los Angeles Examiner, is about to be featured in a 26-week TV series. Eisenberg has conducted the Tracers Company of America for the past 33 years. It searches out missing persons, mainly heirs, husbands and or wives on the lam, lost uncles (if rich enough), even tombstones. He figures he has dug up or interred about 500,000 people in that time.

There's now going to be more interest in the vice presidential race at Chicago and San Francisco than in the contest for the top spot. Looking back on American political history, this is almost like saying that the big interest in the American and National League pennant races this year is who finishes second in each loop.

Sen. Estes Kefauver's sudden capitulation to Adlai Stevenson ("I had my doubts about him but he has developed into a formidable campaigner who can define the issues clearly") is hailed in the Stevenson camp with almost the consternation that Harold Stassen's anti-Nixon campaign hit certain Republican quarters.

Kefauver has been saying for four years, that he has no interest in the vice presidency. Stassen has removed himself from political ambition "forever." Yet the feeling persists that neither move was a complete surprise, despite the furore each act caused. It just doesn't seem possible, in politics at least, that men as personally ambitious as Kefauver and Stassen, and with their followings, would engage in such apparent bridge-burning without hope of future gain.

How much did the steelworkers lose by striking? The precise truth may never be known. But in April the average weekly wage was $100.04, with take-home pay of $86.54 after deductions for taxes and social security. (Deductions for insurance were voluntary.) The 1952 strike lasted 54 days, for a average loss of $692. During the most recent strike, management pointed out that the worker would need more than 11 years to recover his losses from an 8-week strike which resulted in a 3-cent hourly gain.

Nasser hasn't been the same since he gave a news conference to some newspaper junketeers in 1955 and Harry Reutlinger of the Chicago American said to him, at the end of Nasser's remarks on land reform, "I guess you're going to whack up that land among your relatives, eh?"

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1—(INS)—I'm in a rut where this Tony Perkins is concerned, and I admit it. It's impossible to mention his name without predicting that Tony, son of the late Osgood Perkins, is the most shining talent to hit Hollywood since James Dean. Without a picture yet released (he's made five) he's the hottest property hereabouts.

Now it's MGM bidding for him for "All the Way Home," the Harry Essex novel coming out this fall. Inge Preminger set the deal with Dore Schary for the story.

Tony's Paramount deal permits him outside pictures.

British Diana Dors who has all but dug in here buying a house and taking out citizenship, returns to London the end of the year at least long enough to make "The Long Haul." Robert Mitchum will be her co-star.

With "The Long Haul" out of the way, Diana belongs to RKO and Hollywood.

That fine old mambo expert Charlie Coburn (you've got to see him to believe how good he is) left Wednesday night for London to make "The Nylon Web," a thriller. John Mills has the lead and Ella Raines is all but set for the girl. It's for Todon Pictures with Maxwell Setton producing and John Gilliamin directing.

The thing mostly on Charlie's mind is whether the London girls rhumba and mambo as well as the local variety. "Dancing," opines Charlie, "is good for you mentally, morally and physically."

Maggie Ettinger's new apartment, with its black floors, white throw rugs and her stunning paintings, is the smartest salon in town. Everyone who sees it says it looks like Paris.

At the vivacious Maggie's most recent soiree were Barbara Stanwyck, the Walter Langs, Nancy Sinatra, the Bob Cobbs, the Fred Winnetts, Bob Wagner (in full beard for his next movie), Katie and Ralph Dietrich, the Harry Brands, Mecca Graham, Howard Strickling, Joseph Schenck and Gordon Maynard.

Hollywood in shorts: Franchot Tone's girl friends giggling about the pointed white beard he's grown for his stage show, "Uncle Vanya." It tickles them.

Gloria Swanson, one of the attractions in Monte Carlo this season, has let her hair go completely gray. But she looks as glamorous as ever.

Speaking of Monte Carlo, Otto Preminger is the heaviest plunger at the Chemin de Fer tables.

Ethel Merman, walking into the bar at the George V in Paris and spotting Bob Cummings, Sonja Henie and assorted other Hollywoodites said, "Ha! There's a Romanoff's wherever you go!"

6500 enraptured London fans turned out for Esther Williams' $150,000 aqua-spectacle, a part-wet, part-dry show. Among the spectators giving the water baby from Hollywood a big hand were Yul Brynner, Deborah Kerr and Joan Crawford.

Cleo Moore and singer Tony Travis resuming their romance at Sportsmen's Lodge.

Local ROTC Cadet At Army Camp

ROTC Cadet William J. Comer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Comer, 303 East Oldtown Road, is attending the Army ROTC summer camp at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

A graduate of LaSalle High School and a student at LaSalle College, Philadelphia, Comer has been selected to be commander of Battery B on Friday when the unit will participate in firing problems under simulated combat conditions.

Mt. Savage High Teacher Named To College Faculty

Jack R. Snyder, LaVale, a member of the faculty of Mt. Savage High School for the past four years, has been appointed associate professor of science at West Chester (Pa.) State Teachers College.

The appointment is effective at the beginning of the school term in September, and Snyder said he will teach science and the chemistry of nutrition.

Born at Levels, W. Va., Snyder graduated from Augusta (W. Va.) School, Hancock High School and attended the University of Maryland prior to completing his studies at Frostburg State Teachers College.

He received his master's degree from Pennsylvania State University in 1954 and is currently working on his doctorate degree at the same institution.

Snyder served as an instructor at a special Marine Corps training school during World War II and taught at Mt. Savage School for a year prior to being named to the faculty of the high school there. Two years of his career at Mt. Savage High were also spent as a supervising teacher for Frostburg State.

He is a past president of the Frostburg State Alumni Association and was a member of the Allegany County Teachers Association, having served as chairman of the association's public relations committee. Snyder was co-sponsor of the Charles L. Kopp Chapter, Future Teachers of America, at Mt. Savage High.

Snyder is a member of the LaVale Lions Club and the Masonic Order.

He is married to the former Miss Lenora Elaine Grapes and the couple has two children, a son and daughter. The family plans to move to West Chester.

Woman Injured In Crash Sues For $75,000

A local woman docketed a damage suit amounting to $75,000 against a Washington, D. C., trucking firm in the U. S. Court for the District of Maryland in Baltimore.

Lucille I. Krampf, through her attorney, Harold E. Naughton, this city, has docketed the action against Hill and Sanders Inc., 1114 Vermont Avenue, Washington, and one of its drivers, Nathan A. Potter, Alexandria, Va.

The suit results from a truck-auto accident on April 24, 1954, on U. S. 40 east of Hagerstown.

The bill of complaint states that the Cumberland woman was driving eastward on the highway, when the truck owned by Hill and Sanders heading west, crossed the medial line into the eastbound lane.

The two vehicles collided and the bill of complaint states that the defendants failed to have the truck under proper control and failed to maintain a proper lookout.

The suit also charges that the truck was traveling too fast.

As a result of the collision, the suit alleged, the plaintiff was seriously and permantly injured and disfigured and since then has suffered physical pain and nervousness

She has been disabled from engaging in work to which she has been accustomed.

The suit was docketed in Federal Court because the defendants are non-residents of this state.

Humans burn more calories and use more energy during their first hour of sleep than when they are awake.

Youth Paroled In Vandalism

A 16-year-old McCoole boy yesterday was given a suspended term after a trial in Mineral County Juvenile Court in Keyser.

Judge Ernest A. See sentenced the boy to Pruntytown School for Boys until he is 21 years of age.

He granted probation, but the boy must live up to these rules: Pay the cost of the flowers he ruined; pay the reward the bank paid out for information concerning the person who ruined the flowers; pay all court costs; be home by 9:30 p. m. daily, and not loiter on the streets of Keyser at any time.

Judge See said the boy is presently on probation from Allegany County Juvenile Court as he and three other boys were convicted of stealing several cases of beer from the Western Maryland Railway Company at McCoole.

A prisoner in Mineral County Jail was brought in to testify that on the night that the flower boxes were raided he and the boy went to a tavern on Allegheny Front where the lad had some beer, and also to a tavern in Garrett County where they had some more.

The witness said he was with the boy when he pulled out the flowers.

Stuffed Toy Show Winners Named

The next event scheduled for the playground will be a "Parade on Wheels."

Street Commissioner Complains About Streets

City Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, usually deluged with complaints about streets needing repairs, turned the tables on his critics yesterday by lodging a complaint against drivers of cars and trucks who own't stay off oiled and resurfaced streets the minimum 24 hours.

"Just yesterday, for instance," he said, "crews graded and oiled Edwards Avenue, Bopp Avenue and Fectig Avenue, all located between Bedford and Frederick streets, and barricaded them for the usual 24-hour period. Someone removed the barricades, however, during the night and the three streets were chopped into a mess by trucks and cars.

"This is not the first instance that light surfacing and oiling have been worthless because the public will not cooperate by remaining off the streets for at least 24 hours.

"It's senseless for the city to go to the expense of trying to put streets in good condition if the drivers of cars, milk trucks and bread trucks persist in using them before the material has had time to set.

"There's a fine of $25 listed in city ordinances for the unauthorized removal of barricades, and I'm going to request police officials to assist us in our paving program by keeping a close check on streets after they are repaired."

Mt. Savage High Teacher Named To College Faculty

Jack R. Snyder, LaVale, a member of the faculty of Mt. Savage High School for the past four years, has been appointed associate professor of science at West Chester (Pa.) State Teachers College.

The appointment is effective at the beginning of the school term in September, and Snyder said he will teach science and the chemistry of nutrition.

Born at Levels, W. Va., Snyder graduated from Augusta (W. Va.) School, Hancock High School and attended the University of Maryland prior to completing his studies at Frostburg State Teachers College.

He received his master's degree from Pennsylvania State University in 1954 and is currently working on his doctorate degree at the same institution.

Snyder served as an instructor at a special Marine Corps training school during World War II and taught at Mt. Savage School for a year prior to being named to the faculty of the high school there. Two years of his career at Mt. Savage High were also spent as a supervising teacher for Frostburg State.

He is a past president of the Frostburg State Alumni Association and was a member of the Allegany County Teachers Association, having served as chairman of the association's public relations committee. Snyder was co-soonsor of the Charles L. Kopp Chapter, Future Teachers of America, at Mt. Savage High.

Snyder is a member of the LaVale Lions Club and the Masonic Order.

He is married to the former Miss Lenora Elaine Grapes and the couple has two children, a son and daughter. The family plans to move to West Chester.

Woman Injured In Crash Sues For $75,000

A local woman docketed a damage suit amounting to $75,000 against a Washington, D. C., trucking firm in the U. S. Court for the District of Maryland in Baltimore.

Lucille I. Krampf, through her attorney, Harold E. Naughton, this city, has docketed the action against Hill and Sanders Inc., 1114 Vermont Avenue, Washington, and one of its drivers, Nathan A. Potter, Alexandria, Va.

The suit results from a truck-auto accident on April 24, 1954, on U. S. 40 east of Hagerstown.

The bill of complaint states that the Cumberland woman was driving eastward on the highway, when the truck owned by Hill and Sanders heading west, crossed the medial line into the eastbound lane.

The two vehicles collided and the bill of complaint states that the defendants failed to have the truck under proper control and failed to maintain a proper lookout.

The suit also charges that the truck was traveling too fast.

As a result of the collision, the suit alleged, the plaintiff was seriously and permantly injured and disfigured and since then has suffered physical pain and nervousness

She has been disabled from engaging in work to which she has been accustomed.

The suit was docketed in Federal Court because the defendants are non-residents of this state.

Youth Paroled In Vandalism

A 16-year-old McCoole boy yesterday was given a suspended term after a trial in Mineral County Juvenile Court in Keyser.

Judge Ernest A. See sentenced the boy to Pruntytown School for Boys until he is 21 years of age.

He granted probation, but the boy must live up to these rules: Pay the cost of the flowers he ruined; pay the reward the bank paid out for information concerning the person who ruined the flowers; pay all court costs; be home by 9:30 p. m. daily, and not loiter on the streets of Keyser at any time.

Judge See said the boy is presently on probation from Allegany County Juvenile Court as he and three other boys were convicted of stealing several cases of beer from the Western Maryland Railway Company at McCoole.

A prisoner in Mineral County Jail was brought in to testify that on the night that the flower boxes were raided he and the boy went to a tavern on Allegheny Front where the lad had some beer, and also to a tavern in Garrett County where they had some more.

The witness said he was with the boy when he pulled out the flowers.

Stuffed Toy Show Winners Named

The next event scheduled for the playground will be a "Parade on Wheels."

Street Commissioner Complains About Streets

City Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, usually deluged with complaints about streets needing repairs, turned the tables on his critics yesterday by lodging a complaint against drivers of cars and trucks who own't stay off oiled and resurfaced streets the minimum 24 hours.

"Just yesterday, for instance," he said, "crews graded and oiled Edwards Avenue, Bopp Avenue and Fectig Avenue, all located between Bedford and Frederick streets, and barricaded them for the usual 24-hour period. Someone removed the barricades, however, during the night and the three streets were chopped into a mess by trucks and cars.

"This is not the first instance that light surfacing and oiling have been worthless because the public will not cooperate by remaining off the streets for at least 24 hours.

"It's senseless for the city to go to the expense of trying to put streets in good condition if the drivers of cars, milk trucks and bread trucks persist in using them before the material has had time to set.

"There's a fine of $25 listed in city ordinances for the unauthorized removal of barricades, and I'm going to request police officials to assist us in our paving program by keeping a close check on streets after they are repaired."

Mr., Mrs. Edwin Hardinger Observe 50th Anniversary

Celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin O. E. Hardinger received approximately 150 friends and relatives at an open house held Sunday at their home, Hazen Road.

The former Miss Annie R. Willison, daughter of the late E. B. and Victoria (Hendrickson) Willison, became the bride of Mr. Hardinger, son of the late H. A. and Hester (McElfish) Hardinger, on his birthday, July 25, 1906. The wedding ceremony was solemnized in the parsonage of the Methodist Church, Hazen Road, by Rev. Walter A. Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardinger are the parents of three children, of whom two are living, Miss Helen Hardinger, city, and Cecil Hardinger, Hazen Road. They have three grandchildren.

Starting as a clerk in the Flintstone Hardware Company, Mr. Hardinger later became a partner in the People's Hardware Company, Cumberland, from which he retired in 1936. That year Mr. and Mrs. Hardinger purchased the farm and moved from Cumberland to the farm, where they now reside.

A golden color scheme was carried out in the decorations with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and pompons centering the table with yellow candles in a crystal holder. It was repeated in the tiered anniversary cake adorned with a 50th anniversary decoration. Roses were used throughout the house. Mrs. Raymond Drake served the cake and Mrs. John White presided at the punch bowl. They were assisted by Mrs. Martin Rohman Jr., Mrs. Bertha Wolford, city, and Mrs. Russell Faust, Swissvale, Pa., niece of Mrs. Hardinger. Mrs. Will Eyler was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Barbara Huettner, Baltimore was the bride's matron of honor and only attendant. John Pellington, Venia, Va., served as best man, while Gerald Null, Ellerslie, uncle of the bride; and James Aubrey were the ushers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of white nylon, with a fingertip length veil. Completing her costume, she carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and an orchid.

Mrs. Chedester chose a pink silk embroidered ballerina length dress with matching Juliette cap for her daughter's wedding and had a corsage of carnations and rosebuds. Mrs. Wilmer Null, Ellerslie, grandmother of the bride, wore a gray print silk dress with white accessories.

Mrs. Perry is a graduate of high school in Sendai, Japan, 1955 and Strayer Business College, Baltimore, 1956.

Secrets Of Charm

A Woman's Figuring

Never give up the look of a small waistline if you want to be alluring. It has often been said that the siren never lived who had a thick waist. And, if the truth be known, there's a lot of siren in every woman, whatever her size or age.

Figures can trace the history of the world. Through their paintings, different masters have set the fashions for women's figures. Peter Paul Rubens, 1577-1640, gave us the rounded Rubens figures of his era. Women have starved, overeaten, padded, and puffed themselves — often suffering tortures to gain the ideal figure of whatever was the style of the time.

Today we like natural figures—the naturally beautiful figure that must be considered from all angles and all curves. The combination of exercise and proper diet will give you a younger and better figure. It will also give you a more graceful body.

Sheer summer clothes, decollege styles as well as swimwear and play clothes, are all more revealing to your figure. No woman has ever been able to keep her figure for long without adopting a self-improvement plan. Exercise is part of their routine. If you're not satisfied with what you see when you look in the mirror, try this waist whittling exercise each day: Stand straight, legs apart. Put right arm straight up. Bending sidewise at waist, slide left arm down along side of thigh and leg as far as you can. Repeat with left arm. Increase number of times you do this each day, and you'll be happier with what your tape measure reads.

It was repeated in the tiered anniversary cake adorned with a 50th anniversary decoration. Roses were used throughout the house. Mrs. Raymond Drake served the cake and Mrs. John White presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Barbara Huettner, Baltimore was the bride's matron of honor and only attendant. John Pellington, Venia, Va., served as best man, while Gerald Null, Ellerslie, uncle of the bride; and James Aubrey were the ushers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of white nylon, with a fingertip length veil. Completing her costume, she carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and an orchid.

Secrets Of Charm

A Woman's Figuring

Never give up the look of a small waistline if you want to be alluring. It has often been said that the siren never lived who had a thick waist. And, if the truth be known, there's a lot of siren in every woman, whatever her size or age.

Figures can trace the history of the world. Through their paintings, different masters have set the fashions for women's figures. Peter Paul Rubens, 1577-1640, gave us the rounded Rubens figures of his era. Women have starved, overeaten, padded, and puffed themselves — often suffering tortures to gain the ideal figure of whatever was the style of the time.

Today we like natural figures—the naturally beautiful figure that must be considered from all angles and all curves. The combination of exercise and proper diet will give you a younger and better figure. It will also give you a more graceful body.

Sheer summer clothes, decollege styles as well as swimwear and play clothes, are all more revealing to your figure. No woman has ever been able to keep her figure for long without adopting a self-improvement plan. Exercise is part of their routine. If you're not satisfied with what you see when you look in the mirror, try this waist whittling exercise each day: Stand straight, legs apart. Put right arm straight up. Bending sidewise at waist, slide left arm down along side of thigh and leg as far as you can. Repeat with left arm. Increase number of times you do this each day, and you'll be happier with what your tape measure reads.

Former Firemen, Policemen Seek Vacation Pay

Three former city policemen an two city firemen yesterday aske Mayor and Council to pass a order giving them vacation pa they say is due them.

The Mayor and Council and Cit Attorney Thomas B. Finan wer notified of the claim in a lette sent to them by Donald W. Mason. attorney for the five men.

Those involved are E. P. Law, Walter P. Dennison and Ralph M. Buser, who recently resigned from the City Police Department and Harold Hipsley and Conley C. Hammond, former members of the City Fire Department.

All resigned to become members of the plant protective force at the North Branch Plant of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

They were refused vacation pay they say was due them upon their resignation.

Mason quotes a section of City Ordinance 1981 to substantiate the claims of the five men.

This states: In the event of death, discharge, resignation, furlough or discharge of any employe who shall have qualified for vacation under section 1 of Ordinance 1977 (adopted October 12, 1953 by the city) said employe or his dependents shall be entitled to receive compensation for that portion of his vacation earned in the previous year and not as yet received by him, on the basis of one and one-fourth days for each month employed in the year in which said death, resignation, furlough or discharge occurred.

Sections 55c and 56 a of the City Charter as amended by the Acts of 1953 of the Maryland General Assembly, and Ordinance 1977, adopted October 12, 1953, states that all members of the police force and fire departments (all employes subject of to classified civil service) shall be granted (entitled to) an annual vacation or leave of absence of not less than 15 working days with pay after one year of service, Mason pointed out.

Mason listed the days due the five men as follows:

Law, who was on the force eight years and one month, has 13¼ days due.

Dennison, on police force five years and eight months, 14½ days.

Buser, on police force six years and 11 months, 14¾ days.

Hipsley, on fire department five years and six months, 14½ days.

Hammond, whose resignation becomes effective August 11, on fire department five years and eight months, 18 days.

Mason said he believes the law is very explicit and clear and can only be interpreted that the computed vacation pay is due the five men. It is also very clear that the above quoted ordinance was passed to be applicable under such circumstances and facts as are present in these cases, he added.

Mason concluded by asking the Mayor and Council to pass an order allowing the appropriate compensation.

Wines is one of two men accused by police of contributing to the delinquency of two teen-age school girls.

He and J. D. Meredith, 31, of Woodstock, Va., were charged after admitting they picked up the two girls Saturday night and drove them around until early Sunday morning. The two girls, 13 and 15, were reported missing by their parents. They turned up in New York City Monday.

Wines was held in contempt after he pleaded guilty to the charge. Commonwealth Atty. Earl F. Wagner said Wines began "acting smart" and making remarks to Judge Irene Pancoast. The judge deferred sentence on the original charge. Meredith was given a suspended six-month sentence.

Canadian Couple Still Critical

The Canadian couple injured Monday in a headon collision on Route 522 south of Berkeley Springs, W. Va., which claimed the lives of two Ebensburg, Pa., residents, remain in critical condition at War Memorial Hospital, Berkeley Springs.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Koessl, Windsor, Ontario, who were reported in "poor" condition yesterday. The third survivor of the accident is Miss Helen Prindible, 77.

Her two sisters, Miss Loretta E. Prindible, 75, and Miss Hannah A. Prindible, 88, were killed in the crash.

Happy Valley Homemakers will meet at 7:30 tonight at the home of Mrs. William Goldsborough.

Mrs. Edith Shillingburg, 705 Glenmore Street, is a patient at Memorial Hospital.

The United States Treasury never has had a three-dollar bill, but from 1854 to 1890 there was a U. S. three-dollar gold piece.

Negotiators Strive To Complete Pact

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1 (AP)—Negotiators hammered at the final obstacles to complete agreement on steel contracts today as some 650,000 United Steelworkers members idled into the second month of their nationwide strike.

Top industry officials here said they are confident the agreements can be worked out in a little more time. They said it was highly unlikely now that there would be any complete roadblock to agreement within the basic pattern announced as a settlement six days ago.

West Virginia Prime Producer Of Poultry

Area Counties Earn Top Places In U. S. Census Bureau Survey

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—West Virginia, known far and wide for its coal and chemicals, also is a prime producer of poultry and poultry products.

This was disclosed today in 1954 census of agriculture figures issued by the Bureau of the Census, showing that three of West Virginia's 55 counties are listed among the top 100 counties of the nation.

Hardy County ranked 38th among the counties in the dollar value of poultry and poultry products sold in 1954; Pendleton County was 58th, and Grant was 69th.

The bureau said that chickens, turkeys, ducks, geese, other poultry, and their eggs, sold from U. S. farms in 1954 brought $1,918,936,000, of which $674,003,000, or about 35 per cent, was accounted for by the top 100 counties.

The value of Hardy County's products was $5,459,000; Pendleton, $4,303,000, and Grant, $3,681,000.

Hardy ranked 29th among the counties in the number and value of chickens sold, with Pendleton 40th and Grant 50th.

Hardy took 12th position as a turkey raiser, producing 526,863 Thanksgiving birds in 1954. Pendleton ranked 18th, with 372,889 turkeys, with Hampshire in 43rd position, with 225,858.

Donor Of Historic Shrine Won't Have To Pay Taxes

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 1 (AP) — The county commissioners have agreed with Joseph G. Greenfield that he doesn't have to pay taxes on the house he gave away as a historic shrine last year.

The Annapolis merchant was billed $39.37 in taxes on the Carrol-Davis House, which he gave to historic Annapolis Inc. last July, provided the society move it to another location.

The two-story frame house with brick ends was the birthplace of Charles Carroll the barrister, a Revolutionary patriot who wrote Maryland's Declaration of Rights.

The society finally got it moved to a new location on the St. John's College campus. But not before the tax assessor came around in October and billed Greenfield for 1956 taxes on it.

Greenfield protested, and the commissioners agreed the assessment was erroneous.

The tax assessor's office said today it will drop the matter since the house is now located on property of an educational institution exempt from tax.

Democrat Fund Administrator Urges Division

ROCKVILLE, Md., Aug. 1 (AP) — An administrator of a $42,000 kitty for Maryland Democrats proposed today that a squabble over its use be solved by dividing it among the 24 central committees.

J. Newton Brewer Jr., Montgomery County party leader, suggested that the fund be apportioned committees of Baltimore City and the 23 counties according to how many tickets for last winter's $100-a-plate dinner were sold in each of those subdivisions.

The dinner, at which Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) was the main speaker, raised about $72,000. All but $42,000 was used to pay outstanding debts.

A factional fight over the money began brewing at the State party convention last May. Forces headed by George P. Mahoney, which gained control of the party at that convention, have proposed that the money be used to open a permanent party headquarters.

Some veteran party leaders have insisted that it should be spent on the campaign for the approaching elections.

Brewer, a member of the dinner committee, was chairman of Tydings' campaign finance committee.

The other administrators of the dinner-profits fund are R. Bruce Livie, who was general chairman of the Tydings campaign, and Michael J. Birmingham, head of the Baltimore County commissioners and general chairman of the Mahoney campaign.

The City Recreation Board will meet today at 8:30 p. m. in the mayor's office in City Hall.

Busman's Holiday Is Planned For Railway Workers

HAGERSTOWN, Aug. 1 (AP) — More than 400 employes of the Hagerstown division of the Western Maryland Railway are going to take a "busman's holiday" Saturday, August 11.

The workers will be guests of the company on a train ride to Hershey, Pa.

J. M. Bonebrake, president of the railway's social club, said the trip is limited strictly to employes of the railway and their families.

In other years many of the general public have wanted to take part in the excursion, Bonebrake said, but the company has had to limit the outing to employes for fear of violating rules of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Equity Suits Filed

Three equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Wilbert D. Bonner vs. Catherine K. Bonner, Roger G. Cooling vs. Wilma Jane Cooling and Floyd L. Short vs. Vernie S. Short.

Army Chief Will Inspect Guard

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., Aug. 1 (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, accompanied by the adjutant generals of Pennsylvania and Maryland, will inspect the summer training camp of the 29th Infantry Division tomorrow.

The Army's top uniformed commander will tour the training areas of the 121st Engineer Battallion, 116th Infantry Regiment, 729th Ordnance Battalion and the division's Headquarters Company. The troops are from Maryland and Virginia.

A former top Marine commander, Cong. James P. Devereux (R-Md), inspected units of the division today. He was accompanied by Col. Rodger Whiteford, Commander of the 175th Infantry Regiment from Baltimore; and Col. Randolph Millholland, commander of the 115th Infantry from Baltimore.

County Approves Venetian Blind Bid

A bid of $572.50 from the Ideal Window Products Company for installation of venetian blinds in the Allegany County Welfare Building was approved this week by the Board of County Commissioners.

This was the low bid of two submitted.

The commissioners also approved the sale to the Town of Frostburg of visible index files which the County Board of Election Supervisors no longer needs. The price is $22.50 each.

Mrs. Nick Centofonti, Beecher Avenue, Eckhart, appeared to ask about the possibility of installing drainage pipe near her property. William H. Lemmert, board president, said the plan would be difficult because of the location of homes in the area.

The commissioners also wrote a letter to the Federal Communications Commission supporting the request of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company, Inc., for authorization of mobile radio equipment. The equipment already is installed but the FCC must approve its use.

Democrat Fund Administrator Urges Division

ROCKVILLE, Md., Aug. 1 (AP) — An administrator of a $42,000 kitty for Maryland Democrats proposed today that a squabble over its use be solved by dividing it among the 24 central committees.

J. Newton Brewer Jr., Montgomery County party leader, suggested that the fund be apportioned committees of Baltimore City and the 23 counties according to how many tickets for last winter's $100-a-plate dinner were sold in each of those subdivisions.

The dinner, at which Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) was the main speaker, raised about $72,000. All but $42,000 was used to pay outstanding debts.

A factional fight over the money began brewing at the State party convention last May. Forces headed by George P. Mahoney, which gained control of the party at that convention, have proposed that the money be used to open a permanent party headquarters.

Some veteran party leaders have insisted that it should be spent on the campaign for the approaching elections.

Brewer, a member of the dinner committee, was chairman of Tydings' campaign finance committee.

The other administrators of the dinner-profits fund are R. Bruce Livie, who was general chairman of the Tydings campaign, and Michael J. Birmingham, head of the Baltimore County commissioners and general chairman of the Mahoney campaign.

Rec Board To Meet

The City Recreation Board will meet today at 8:30 p. m. in the mayor's office in City Hall.

Busman's Holiday Is Planned For Railway Workers

HAGERSTOWN, Aug. 1 (AP) — More than 400 employes of the Hagerstown division of the Western Maryland Railway are going to take a "busman's holiday" Saturday, August 11.

The workers will be guests of the company on a train ride to Hershey, Pa.

J. M. Bonebrake, president of the railway's social club, said the trip is limited strictly to employes of the railway and their families.

In other years many of the general public have wanted to take part in the excursion, Bonebrake said, but the company has had to limit the outing to employes for fear of violating rules of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Equity Suits Filed

Three equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Wilbert D. Bonner vs. Catherine K. Bonner, Roger G. Cooling vs. Wilma Jane Cooling and Floyd L. Short vs. Vernie S. Short.

Army Chief Will Inspect Guard

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., Aug. 1 (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, accompanied by the adjutant generals of Pennsylvania and Maryland, will inspect the summer training camp of the 29th Infantry Division tomorrow.

The Army's top uniformed commander will tour the training areas of the 121st Engineer Battalion, 116th Infantry Regiment, 729th Ordnance Battalion and the division's Headquarters Company. The troops are from Maryland and Virginia.

County Approves Venetian Blind Bid

A bid of $572.50 from the Ideal Window Products Company for installation of venetian blinds in the Allegany County Welfare Building was approved this week by the Board of County Commissioners.

This was the low bid of two submitted.

The commissioners also approved the sale to the Town of Frostburg of visible index files which the County Board of Election Supervisors no longer needs. The price is $22.50 each.

Mrs. Nick Centofonti, Beecher Avenue, Eckhart, appeared to ask about the possibility of installing drainage pipe near her property. William H. Lemmert, board president, said the plan would be difficult because of the location of homes in the area.

The commissioners also wrote a letter to the Federal Communications Commission supporting the request of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company, Inc., for authorization of mobile radio equipment. The equipment already is installed but the FCC must approve its use.

Indirect Tax Cut From Lower Interest

Congress did not vote a tax cut before adjourning. To rather general surprise, there was a budgetary surplus of $1.7 billion in the fiscal year that ended last month. But that sum, instead of being made a basis for tax reduction, has been used to effect a reduction in the national debt.

The national debt still stands at $273 billion, a formidable sum. The nation pays billions interest on it, and the interest comes out of taxes everyone pays directly or indirectly. If the national debt were lower, taxes would be lower. But even if it were reduced by more than $1.7 billion every year, it would not be wiped out until some time in the 22nd Century. The $1.7 billion is a mere drop in the bucket.

And yet it is not so small either. The reduction amounts to more than $10 for every man, woman, and child in the United States, or more than $40 for each family of four.

Because of the debt reduction, there will be less interest on the national debt for taxpayers to pay in the current fiscal year. So, in a sense, the reduction in the national debt amounts to a tax reduction. Because of it, the average American family of four will contribute roughly $1 less for interest on the national debt.

This $1 saving, moreover, is permanent: It will continue, year after year. And if similar debt reductions can be made annually, the saving on interest will mount. After five years it would be about $5 annually for each family of four.

Now this is an efficient and genuinely economical way to achieve tax reduction. Reducing the debt reduces what the government spends on interest. And even spenders of the extreme Keynes school, who hold that debt should be increased when times are bad, concede that it can beneficially be lowered when times are as good as they are now.

These Days

Cult Of Personality

Much of written history deals with the cult of personality, the emergence, rise, and downfall of individuals whose lives affect all about them and whose virtues and foibles influence and sometimes control the course of events. The scientific Marxists look to economic and social influences as being stronger and more effective than personalities. They explain the appearance of an Alexander, a Caesar, a Charlemagne, a Wang An-shih, an Akbar, a Napoleon, a Hitler or a Stalin, a Genghis Khan or a Franco, a Simon Bolivar or a George Washington, and the events related to them, upon the economic and social conditions which made their careers possible. Nevertheless, Stalin could, in the most Marxist of countries, turn himself into a demigod and while he lived the resistance to him was scant.

The reason, for instance, why Richard Nixon and not Harold Stassen is at present vice president of the United States, they would attribute to an economic interpretation of the 1952 Republican Convention whereas actually it was due to the fact that when a newspaperman suggested that Representative Karl Mundt go to Whittaker Chambers' farm near Baltimore, Mundt was a bit weary and suggested that Representative Nixon might be willing to go. Nixon did go and Alger Hiss went to prison. Politically Nixon has established a value to the Republican party which was utilizable in the 1952 campaign and may be again.

All sorts of things happen at political conventions, and when it is suggested that Nixon betrayed the then governor of California, Earl Warren, it must also be noted that Warren was not a veritable candidate for the presidency and that both camps knew that he desired a seat on the Supreme Court and that both the Eisenhower and Taft groups hoped to bargain for California's votes on that basis and did. Perhaps Nixon did manage to get the vice presidency because of that, but had Robert A. Taft been nominated, the vice presidency most likely would have gone to Senator William Knowland who would today, in the circumstance, have been President of the United States. There were many personal contracts in both camps and at one period, I observed closely the bargaining for votes. Both sides were doing it, but the Eisenhower agents were more skillful than those who represented Taft.

The weakness of the cult of personality in American politics is that the Constitution fixes the term of office rigidly to four years, after which an election must be held. No man has ever had time enough between elections to make himself the master of the country. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dwight D. Eisenhower have been about as popular as anyone can become in this kind of a country, but neither fully mastered their own parties, much less the country. Roosevelt overcame this by running and being elected four times, the fourth time while he was a very sick man and undoubtedly dying. To safeguard the country further against such personalities, the 22nd Amendment to the Constitution was passed limiting the President to two terms. Thus, the mischief of any individual in that office is limited in time, even if he by personality or chicanery should overcome other limitations stipulated by the Constitution.

Roosevelt, during his 12 years in the presidency, effected a fundamental revolution which may have been completed in the Eisenhower administration. It was a political revolution, strengthening not only the executive authority beyond the intent of the Constitution, but turning the federal government into a central government. And thus weakening the states. Roosevelt gained increasing popularity because of these acts which violated American tradition, and the white population of the South, who are now most opposed to the consequences of Roosevelt's program, gave him a political support which kept him in office as long as he lived.

In our society, personality is always likely to be the strongest factor in politics because of the nature of our elections, now aggravated by the use of television. This means that height, girth, clothes, the photogenic characteristics of the face, voice and gesture are as important political factors as intelligence and character. If women ran for president, we should probably put down their measurements, 38-42-36 or whatever happens to be popular at the moment. Intelligence and character cannot be so readily measured and generally are not fully appraised until a man is long dead.

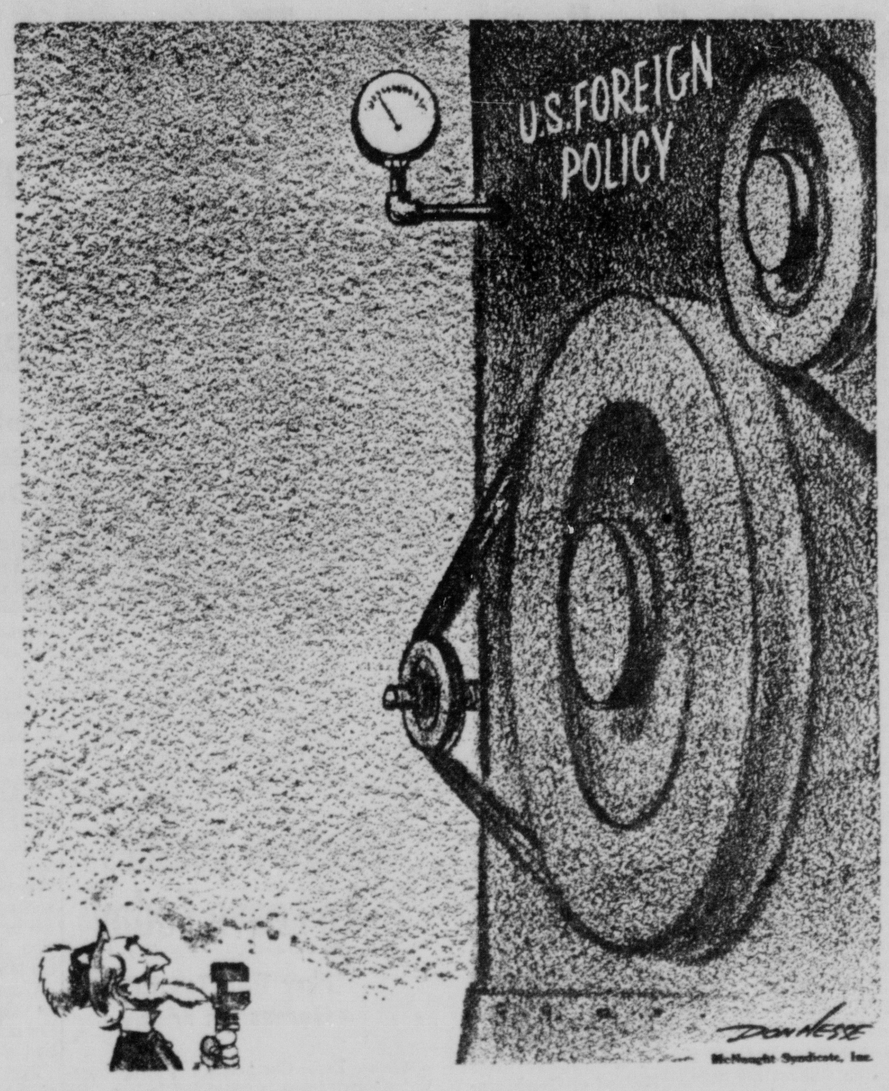
Where To Start The Modifications?



World Faces Military Crisis Over Suez Question

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Again, as in the 1930s, the free nations are menaced by an unscrupulous aggressor — and again the question before the whole world is whether softness, appeasement and timidity will once more bring worse consequences.

For Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal isn't an isolated episode. It is part of the "cold war." On what Britain and America and France do now depends the respect in which they will be held by Khrushchev and Tito and Nehru and Chou En-lai.

Just as the League of Nations faltered when Mussolini, prompted by Hitler, seized Ethiopia, so today the United Nations is unable to make its military potential felt because it faltered in Korea and Indochina in submitting to ignominous armistice agreements that have since been torn to pieces by the enemy.

Instigated By Soviet

Only the firmness and resoluteness of the major powers of the West, acting in unison to repel unlawful seizure of their property, can today assure the retention by the West of the strategic gateway from the Mediterranean to the Indian Ocean. It's a military move which Nasser has made — instigated by the Soviet dictators.

There are the usual protestations of innocence by the men in Moscow, and there is the customary call for "negotiations," amid righteous comments from Communist sources that war must be prevented. But it all adds up to the simple fact that Nasser himself has confessed that Russia — and not Czechoslovakia — supplied him with arms to threaten Israel and to stir up Arab hostility to the West. Nasser even boasts that he today has the support of Yugoslavia's Tito, India's Nehru and the Red China gangsters. Nasser, in defiance of the resolution of the United Nations against an aggressor government in China, nevertheless granted recognition to that government. Egypt is the only member of the U.N. to recognize Red China since the outbreak of the Korean War. Peking is now applauding Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal.

It's all a part of the effort to bluff the West, and undoubtedly the rise of communistic influence and intrigue in Cairo is back of the Egyptian dictator's bold move to line up the whole Arab world against the West.

Ironically, just a few days ago Nasser was echoing the cry of Nehru and of some of those misguided folks inside America who insist that American taxpayers' money must be given "without strings attached." But now it is Nasser who imposes the strings and insists on conditions. He wants the undisputed right to operate the Suez Canal, and he blandly disregards the British ownership of a substantial part of the canal company.

International Blackmail

What it amounts to is international blackmail. Nasser has demanded a large part of the $1.2 billion needed to build the Aswan Dam and, when he is refused it, he threatens British and French property owners with confiscation and the American military position in the Middle East with trouble. He menaces the whole transportation of oil products from the Near East to Europe.

Certainly no government in the West can ever trust Nasser again. No agreement with him on the Aswan Dam or anything else would ever be regarded as worth the paper it is written on. How fortunate it is that the Western nations discovered Nasser's true colors before they became involved in any financial transactions with him of a major kind!

The key to the future is in one word used by Prime Minister Eden in addressing the House of Commons on Monday. He said he could not entrust the future of the Suez Canal to the "unfettered control of a single nation. This means that he regards Egypt as a "fettered" nation today. It is "fettered" by a dictator's power over the Egyptian people, whose balloting Nasser controls as Hitler did in Germany. Egypt is "fettered" also by the Communist influence to which Nasser has been beholden right along.

The talk emanating from Moscow about "internationalizing" the Suez Canal is a mere euphemism. Naturally, Soviet Russia wants a veto in what shall be done in the Suez Canal area. It's of military importance to her. But the only control that would be safe for the West would be under an international plan that keeps the canal in private hands — that is, the stockholders in free countries and, of course, with Egyptian participation. The precedent of putting an important seaway into the hands of both East and West governments can only lead to political intrigue.

Misstep Could Mean War

There isn't any objection to the continued management of the Suez by an Egyptian company, as has been the case for many years. The trouble isn't in the problem of ownership but in the kind of government that rules in Cairo. Only under a free government there can the continued operation of the canal be assured for transportation and not political purposes. Until a free government arises in Egypt — and that is what is meant by an "unfettered" country —there can be no safety for ships that seek passage through the Suez Canal.

The major powers may have to make a military demonstration to secure respect for their rights — and to protect themselves against giving a base to Soviet Russia at the eastern end of the Mediterranean. It's a military as well as a political crisis that the world faces — and if the West falters again, it could mean a chain of events which would again encourage the aggressor to take chances and bring on a world war.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Another dessicated item about our first political convention was the fact it was calibrated to 13 colonies, muddy roads and evaporation in transit.

Those political super-markets at Chicago and San Francisco handle emolument shoppers from 48 states, three territories, one government reservation with Pakistan abstaining.

Since the Ringlings hospitalized Barnum and Bailey the conventions are the only circuses that hit the road. No more will we drink the time-stained toast, "short hauls and dry lots."

The convention chatter-fests are extravagant expositions of our free and equal compromises and Democratic conniving. Never before has man's inhumanity to man been polled by delegations.

If you fall by the wayside they give you a cool sip of dust from a vacuum cleaner. If you run a temperature they pop corn on your chest. And if you break a leg they put it up in curl papers.

The hauls are long but there's a dry lot waiting in Pennsylvania Avenue.

Hints To Help Avoid Being Struck By Lightning

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A bolt of lightning may not be as destructive as a hydrogen bomb but it still packs a wallop. The electric discharge carries millions of volts and thousands of amperes and destroys any object that stands in its way. We cannot prevent lightning but we can do something about the places it is likely to strike.

Our construction engineers have made steel skyscrapers immune to damage from this phenomenon and the same can be said of commercial chimneys, church spires, and monuments. Many of these tall structures act as lightning rods for an entire community. The Underwriters' Laboratories have ample proof of the wisdom of installing protective devices.

But the situation is different in rural areas and on lakes and golf courses. A man in a rowboat may be just as vulnerable to a bolt in the middle of a lake as the Empire State Building is in the center of Manhattan. Both are the tallest targets in their respective areas.

Every week stories appear in the newspapers about golfers and fishermen being killed from this cause. Never get caught in the open during a thunderstorm. Get out of the water as soon as possible. Look for a house and don't stand near an open window or the fireplace.

Hunters, hikers, and picnickers ought to head for a cave, depression in the ground, or the foot of a steep overhanging cliff in case there is no other shelter. An alternative is to get into the car or lie flat on the ground as it is better to get wet than toasted. Never stand under a tree. Electricity strikes the top branches and after the bolt reaches the base it runs around the ground and hits everything in its path.

Recently one of our women executives was weeding her garden when three things happened simultaneously: She saw a ball of fire, the ground beneath her rose, and she was struck on the back of the neck by a heavy object. Lightning had hit a nearby tree, which sent pieces flying in all directions.

Standing in a forest is different because, when lightning strikes, the chances of being under the selected tree are lessened. Avoid wire fences and the pin that holds the flag in the middle of the golf green.

The individual who has been stunned by nature's artillery is given the same treatment as for drowning — artificial respiration. This procedure should be started as soon as possible even though breathing has stopped. Oxygen is administered when it is available.

TOMORROW: Impetigo is highly contagious.

BITS OF SKIN

V. T. writes: What are skin tags?

REPLY

Tiny, flesh-colored projections from the skin, particularly of the neck. Some are warty growths but others consist entirely of skin. They are easily removed with an electric needle.

MEDICAL CARE, MENOPAUSE

Mrs. J. writes: Is it necessary for a woman to be under a physician's care during the menopause?

REPLY

Not unless she is one of the 10 per cent with incapacitating symptoms. On the other hand, it is advisable to get into the habit of periodic checkups after age 40.

MODERN INDUSTRIES

W. C. T. writes: Is it true that most medicines prescribed today were not known 10 years ago?

REPLY

Yes. It has been said that 90 per cent of the drugs on the druggist's shelf today were not available 15 years ago. The same thing applies in a general way to foods and textiles.

BRAIN DAMAGE

Mrs. K. writes: Just what is cerebral palsy?

REPLY

The condition has been referred to as "an aggregate of physical, intellectual, and emotional handicaps resulting from brain damage before, during, or after birth." Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet, which goes into more detail.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

The proprietor of a Chinese chop suey joint in the nation's capitol is well aware of the characteristics and weak spots of the clientele to which he caters. After every dish on the menu there's a big VIP in red ink.

"Hey, Soong Lee," joshed one customer, "I'll bet you haven't the slightest idea what those initials V.I.P. stand for.

"Sure have," grinned the smiling Chinese. "Velly Inexpensive Plate."

Warning to reckless drivers: it takes hundreds of nuts to hold a car together, but it takes only one of them to scatter it all over the highway.

There's a young lady in the Bronx who calls her poodle "Shakespeare." After the Bard of Avon?" she was asked.

"Oh, no," she explained hastily. "After Shakespeare Ginsberg, my dramatic coach."

Quakers Tell Un-American Activities Group To Mind Its Own Business

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Two significant events occurred in Philadelphia recently. Both concerned the basic freedoms, including the Fifth Amendment, which the founding fathers hammered into the Constitution in the same city of Philadelphia almost two centuries ago.

One event was a letter written by some of the city's leading Quakers, descendants of those who founded Philadelphia, to the House Un-American Activities Committee telling its members in dignified but emphatic language to quit nosing into the right of the Quakers to hire any librarian they pleased, even if that librarian had once been a member of the Communist party.

Not many people address the much feared House Un-American Activities Committee in that tone of voice these days.

The other event was the opening of "Storm Center," the most controversial picture Hollywood has turned out since McCarthyism became popular in some quarters.

By coincidence, "Storm Center" also involves a librarian who was kicked out because she once belonged to some Communist front organizations and because she championed the library's right to keep certain controversial books on its shelves.

The plot almost parallels the same issue for which the Plymouth Quaker meeting, just outside Philadelphia, was investigated by the Un-American Activities Committee; the chief difference being that the Quakers stood their ground and did not fire librarian Mary Knowles, while in Hollywood's stirring story, Bette Davis, who plays the part of the librarian, is fired by a McCarthyesque city council in some drama-packed sequences which are as good box-office as they are good for the basic principles born in Philadelphia.

Mary Pickford Retreats

Inside fact is that "Storm Center" had a hard time seeing the light of a movie projector. It was conceived five years ago by two young writer-producers, Dan Taradash and Julian Blaustein, right at the height of Joe McCarthy's popularity. At that time no studio would touch it.

But two years ago, Columbia Pictures, which has more courage than some of the others, saw it was not only good drama but good for the nation. Mary Pickford was first picked to play the role of the discharged librarian, but backed out at the last minute.

Bette Davis, who took over the role, played it with great conviction. She believed what she acted.

Every senator who supported Joe McCarthy during his heyday should take a good look at this picture. So should members of the Un-American Activities Committee, which poked its nose into the right of Quakers to hire their own librarian.

"We regard such inquiries as a serious transgression upon the complete division of church and state," wrote the nine Quaker elders to the committee, "which is one of the important foundations of democracy.

"Is the conscience of the church," they asked, "to be subject to the organized pressure of groups of people who differ with it?"

Learning Democracy Young

GOP Congressman Francis E. Dorn of Brooklyn takes seriously the problem of teaching his children democracy. That's why every year he requires them to sit in turn for one week on the floor of Congress watching how the machinery of government works.

Since there are four Dorns, aged 4 to 11, the congressman's children sit, and sometimes squirm, beside him for a solid month, while other congressmen orate and vote as the ponderous legislative wheels grind out our laws.

This column, also having a passing interest in making democracy work, phoned the elder Dorn children at Camp Birchwood, N. H., to get their views on this subject.

"Did you get a thrill sitting in the House of Representatives with the congressmen," Tom Dorn, aged 11, was asked.

"Nope," was his candid reply.

"Would you like to be a congressman?"

"Nope. It looks like a tough job —too nerve-wracking."

"Yes, I think I might like to be a congresswoman," she said.

"Why?"

"I don't know."

"Do you think women can do a better job than men?"

"Yes and — well, the offices are nice and they're air conditioned."

Humphrey predicts — Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey gave a significant lecture to the National Security Council the other day on the coming struggle with Russia. "Surgical Sprue"

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

It is time for some one to say bluntly what it is unpleasant but publicly needful to say. The problem of the President's health is now reaching the stage that the White House has repeatedly promised would never be reached—the stage of rumor and innuendo and worried or malicious private gossip, like the gossip about Franklin Roosevelt's health in 1944.

Unfortunately, there are very obvious reasons for this trend. The President's time in the hospital was longer than his doctors forecast. During the President's convalescence in Gettysburg, his chief surgeon, Dr. Heaton, was unexpectedly kept in residence at the Eisenhower farm; and White House Press Secretary James Hagerty made a decidedly disturbing attempt to pass off Dr. Heaton's stay as a purely social visit.

Worried Talk Unstilled

Finally, at Panama, there were times when the President looked very ill indeed; and in Panama he made his by-now famous remark that he "hadn't much strength" but still "kept going."

On the other side of the balance sheet, of course, there have been the other times, like the day when he arrived home from Panama, when the President has looked remarkably well and vigorous. And there has been a constant flow of soothing assurances from Press Secretary Hagerty.

But Hagerty's assurances have not stilled the worried talk. Anyone who is not a recluse knows that loyal Republicans and fervent Eisenhower admirers are talking just as much as Democrats. And although the talk is not yet out in the open, it raises extremely genuine public issues.

For example, a story is now going the rounds that his ileitis operation has left the President with a condition resembling a fairly mild but obstinately persistent and decidedly weakening dysentery.

So far as these reporters can discover — and they have tried very hard to get at the facts — the story is no invention of heartless Democratic propagandists. It seems to originate, rather, in high Republican quarters, among persons close to the White House who ought to know what they are talking about. It fits very precisely, too, with all those pieces of the pattern of events like Dr. Heaton's prolonged stay at Gettysburg, which have caused the widespread underground concern.

Furthermore, the story fits with uncomfortable precision into the known pattern of ileitis itself, as described in the authoritative medical literature and by the experts on the disease. Ileitis, like true infectious dysentery or the equally detestable sprue, is an intestinal inflamation; and it produces the results that are to be expected from an intestinal inflammation.

Two Passages Now

Those results can quite easily be intensified, too, by the type of operation the President's doctors performed on him. Because of his prior heart attack, they avoided the more radical surgery that is recommended in ileitis cases. They did not cut out or even block off the inflamed section of the small intestine. They merely bypassed it by making a second joint between the small intestine and the large intestine. Thus there are now two passages, where there was one before.

Therefore the part of the small intestine where the ileitis centered is still a part of the President's digestive tract; and unless the President has had quite unusual good luck, the original ileitis still persists, although in a much less harmful way. Meanwhile the second passage that has been opened also bypasses the part of the large intestine which has the function of absorbing liquids. Failure of this absorptive function is the chief result of sprue. Bypassing the absorptive area by surgery can produce a condition that is some times called "surgical sprue," and this condition is by no means invariably cured by time.

No traveler who has ever been unlucky enough to suffer even from mild dysentery or sprue will doubt for a moment that the condition is partially disabling. A leading expert on ileitis consulted by these reporters stated that he would unhesitatingly ask for a 25 or 30 per cent disability payment for any of his patients who suffered from such a condition as is now attributed to the President.

Neither these reporters, nor anyone else for that matter, has any way of really knowing, at present, whether the President is in fact suffering from this reported dysentery-like condition. One must pray that the report is unfounded.

Indirect Tax Cut From Lower Interest

Congress did not vote a tax cut before adjourning. To rather general surprise, there was a budgetary surplus of $1.7 billion in the fiscal year that ended last month. But that sum, instead of being made a basis for tax reduction, has been used to effect a reduction in the national debt.

The national debt still stands at $273 billion, a formidable sum. The nation pays billions interest on it, and the interest comes out of taxes everyone pays directly or indirectly. If the national debt were lower, taxes would be lower. But even if it were reduced by more than $1.7 billion every year, it would not be wiped out until some time in the 22nd Century. The $1.7 billion is a mere drop in the bucket.

And yet it is not so small either. The reduction amounts to more than $10 for every man, woman, and child in the United States, or more than $40 for each family of four.

Because of the debt reduction, there will be less interest on the national debt for taxpayers to pay in the current fiscal year. So, in a sense, the reduction in the national debt amounts to a tax reduction. Because of it, the average American family of four will contribute roughly $1 less for interest on the national debt.

This $1 saving, moreover, is permanent: It will continue, year after year. And if similar debt reductions can be made annually, the saving on interest will mount. After five years it would be about $5 annually for each family of four.

Now this is an efficient and genuinely economical way to achieve tax reduction. Reducing the debt reduces what the government spends on interest. And even spenders of the extreme Keynes school, who hold that debt should be increased when times are bad, concede that it can beneficially be lowered when times are as good as they are now.

These Days

Cult Of Personality

Much of written history deals with the cult of personality, the emergence, rise, and downfall of individuals whose lives affect all about them and whose virtues and foibles influence and sometimes control the course of events. The scientific Marxists look to economic and social influences as being stronger and more effective than personalities. They explain the appearance of an Alexander, a Caesar, a Charlemagne, a Wang An-shih, an Akbar, a Napoleon, a Hitler or a Stalin, a Genghis Khan or a Franco, a Simon Bolivar or a George Washington, and the events related to them, upon the economic and social conditions which made their careers possible. Nevertheless, Stalin could, in the most Marxist of countries, turn himself into a demigod and while he lived the resistance to him was scant.

The reason, for instance, why Richard Nixon and not Harold Stassen is at present vice president of the United States, they would attribute to an economic interpretation of the 1952 Republican Convention whereas actually it was due to the fact that when a newspaperman suggested that Representative Karl Mundt go to Whittaker Chambers' farm near Baltimore, Mundt was a bit weary and suggested that Representative Nixon might be willing to go. Nixon did go and Alger Hiss went to prison. Politically Nixon has established a value to the Republican party which was utilizable in the 1952 campaign and may be again.

All sorts of things happen at political conventions, and when it is suggested that Nixon betrayed the then governor of California, Earl Warren, it must also be noted that Warren was not a veritable candidate for the presidency and that both camps knew that he desired a seat on the Supreme Court and that both the Eisenhower and Taft groups hoped to bargain for California's votes on that basis and did. Perhaps Nixon did manage to get the vice presidency because of that, but had Robert A. Taft been nominated, the vice presidency most likely would have gone to Senator William Knowland who would today, in the circumstance, have been President of the United States. There were many personal contracts in both camps and at one period, I observed closely the bargaining for votes. Both sides were doing it, but the Eisenhower agents were more skillful than those who represented Taft.

The weakness of the cult of personality in American politics is that the Constitution fixes the term of office rigidly to four years, after which an election must be held. No man has ever had time enough between elections to make himself the master of the country. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dwight D. Eisenhower have been about as popular as anyone can become in this kind of a country, but neither fully mastered their own parties, much less the country. Roosevelt overcame this by running and being elected four times, the fourth time while he was a very sick man and undoubtedly dying. To safeguard the country further against such personalities, the 22nd Amendment to the Constitution was passed limiting the President to two terms. Thus, the mischief of any individual in that office is limited in time, even if he by personality or chicanery should overcome other limitations stipulated by the Constitution.

Roosevelt, during his 12 years in the presidency, effected a fundamental revolution which may have been completed in the Eisenhower administration. It was a political revolution, strengthening not only the executive authority beyond the intent of the Constitution, but turning the federal government into a central government. And thus weakening the states. Roosevelt gained increasing popularity because of these acts which violated American tradition, and the white population of the South, who are now most opposed to the consequences of Roosevelt's program, gave him a political support which kept him in office as long as he lived.

In our society, personality is always likely to be the strongest factor in politics because of the nature of our elections, now aggravated by the use of television. This means that height, girth, clothes, the photogenic characteristics of the face, voice and gesture are as important political factors as intelligence and character. If women ran for president, we should probably put down their measurements, 38-42-36 or whatever happens to be popular at the moment. Intelligence and character cannot be so readily measured and generally are not fully appraised until a man is long dead.

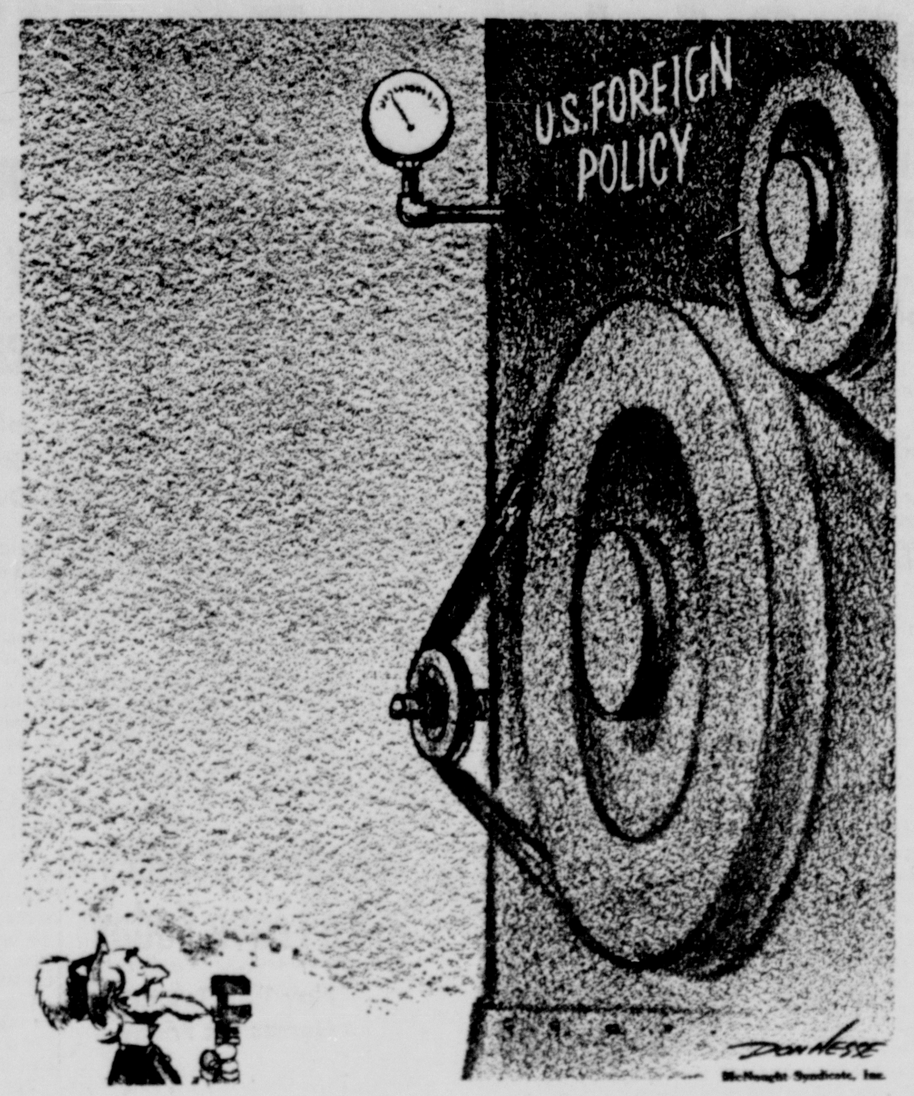
Where To Start The Modifications?



Quakers Tell Un-American Activities Group To Mind Its Own Business

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Two significant events occurred in Philadelphia recently. Both concerned the basic freedoms, including the Fifth Amendment, which the founding fathers hammered into the Constitution in the same city of Philadelphia almost two centuries ago.

One event was a letter written by some of the city's leading Quakers, descendants of those who founded Philadelphia, to the House Un-American Activities Committee telling its members in dignified but emphatic language to quit nosing into the right of the Quakers to hire any librarian they pleased, even if that librarian had once been a member of the Communist party.

Not many people address the much feared House Un-American Activities Committee in that tone of voice these days.

The other event was the opening of "Storm Center," the most controversial picture Hollywood has turned out since McCarthyism became popular in some quarters.

By coincidence, "Storm Center" also involves a librarian who was kicked out because she once belonged to some Communist front organizations and because she championed the library's right to keep certain controversial books on its shelves.

The plot almost parallels the same issue for which the Plymouth Quaker meeting, just outside Philadelphia, was investigated by the Un-American Activities Committee; the chief difference being that the Quakers stood their ground and did not fire librarian Mary Knowles, while in Hollywood's stirring story, Bette Davis, who plays the part of the librarian, is fired by a McCarthyesque city council in some drama-packed sequences which are as good box-office as they are good for the basic principles born in Philadelphia.

Mary Pickford Retreats

Inside fact is that "Storm Center" had a hard time seeing the light of a movie projector. It was conceived five years ago by two young writer - producers, Dan Taradash and Julian Blaustein, right at the height of Joe McCarthy's popularity. At that time no studio would touch it.

But two years ago, Columbia Pictures, which has more courage than some of the others, saw it was not only good drama but good for the nation. Mary Pickford was first picked to play the role of the discharged librarian, but backed out at the last minute.

Bette Davis, who took over the role, played it with great conviction. She believed what she acted.

Every senator who supported Joe McCarthy during his heyday should take a good look at this picture. So should members of the Un-American Activities Committee, which poked its nose into the right of Quakers to hire their own librarian.

"We regard such inquiries as a serious transgression upon the complete division of church and state," wrote the nine Quaker elders to the committee, "which is one of the important foundations of democracy.

"Is the conscience of the church," they asked, "to be subject to the organized pressure of groups of people who differ with it?"

Learning Democracy Young

GOP Congressman Francis E. Dorn of Brooklyn takes seriously the problem of teaching his children democracy. That's why every year he requires them to sit in turn for one week on the floor of Congress watching how the machinery of government works.

Since there are four Dorns, aged 4 to 11, the congressman's children sit, and sometimes squirm, beside him for a solid month, while other congressmen orate and vote as the ponderous legislative wheels grind out our laws.

This column, also having a passing interest in making democracy work, phoned the elder Dorn children at Camp Birchwood, N. H., to get their views on this subject.

"Did you get a thrill sitting in the House of Representatives with the congressmen," Tom Dorn, aged 11, was asked.

"Nope," was his candid reply. "Would you like to be a congressman?"

His sister Theresa, aged 10, was more tolerant about her father's vocation.

"Yes, I think I might like to be a congresswoman," she said.

"Why?"

"I don't know."

"Do you think women can do a better job than men?"

World Faces Military Crisis Over Suez Question

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Again, as in the 1930s, the free nations are menaced by an unscrupulous aggressor — and again the question before the whole world is whether softness, appeasement and timidity will once more bring worse consequences.

For Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal isn't an isolated episode. It is part of the "cold war." On what Britain and America and France do now depends the respect in which they will be held by Khrushchev and Tito and Nehru and Chou En-lai.

Just as the League of Nations faltered when Mussolini, prompted by Hitler, seized Ethiopia, so today the United Nations is unable to make its military potential felt because it faltered in Korea and Indochina in submitting to ignominous armistice agreements that have since been torn to pieces by the enemy.

Instigated By Soviet

Only the firmness and resoluteness of the major powers of the West, acting in unison to repel unlawful seizure of their property, can today assure the retention by the West of the strategic gateway from the Mediterranean to the Indian Ocean. It's a military move which Nasser has made — instigated by the Soviet dictators.

There are the usual protestations of innocence by the men in Moscow, and there is the customary call for "negotiations," amid righteous comments from Communist sources that war must be prevented. But it all adds up to the simple fact that Nasser himself has confessed that Russia — and not Czechoslovakia — supplied him with arms to threaten Israel and to stir up Arab hostility to the West. Nasser even boasts that he today has the support of Yugoslavia's Tito, India's Nehru and the Red China gangsters. Nasser, in defiance of the resolution of the United Nations against an aggressor government in China, nevertheless granted recognition to that government. Egypt is the only member of the U.N. to recognize Red China since the outbreak of the Korean War. Peking is now applauding Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal.

It's all a part of the effort to bluff the West, and undoubtedly the rise of communistic influence and intrigue in Cairo is back of the Egyptian dictator's bold move to line up the whole Arab world against the West.

Ironically, just a few days ago Nasser was echoing the cry of Nehru and of some of those misguided folks inside America who insist that American taxpayers' money must be given "without strings attached." But now it is Nasser who imposes the strings and insists on conditions. He wants the undisputed right to operate the Suez Canal, and he blandly disregards the British ownership of a substantial part of the canal company.

International Blackmail

What it amounts to is international blackmail. Nasser has demanded a large part of the $1.2 billion needed to build the Aswan Dam and, when he is refused it, he threatens British and French property owners with confiscation and the American military position in the Middle East with trouble. He menaces the whole transportation of oil products from the Near East to Europe.

Certainly no government in the West can ever trust Nasser again. No agreement with him on the Aswan Dam or anything else would ever be regarded as worth the paper it is written on. How fortunate it is that the Western nations discovered Nasser's true colors before they became involved in any financial transactions with him of a major kind!

The key to the future is in one word used by Prime Minister Eden in addressing the House of Commons on Monday. He said he could not entrust the future of the Suez Canal to the "unfettered control of a single nation. This means that he regards Egypt as a "fettered" nation today. It is "fettered" by a dictator's power over the Egyptian people, whose balloting Nasser controls as Hitler did in Germany. Egypt is "fettered" also by the Communist influence to which Nasser has been beholden right along.

The talk emahating from Moscow about "internationalizing" the Suez Canal is a mere euphemism. Naturally, Soviet Russia wants a veto in what shall be done in the Suez Canal area. It's of military importance to her. But the only control that would be safe for the West would be under an international plan that keeps the canal in private hands — that is, the stockholders in free countries and, of course, with Egyptian participation. The precedent of putting an important seaway into the hands of both East and West governments can only lead to political intrigue.

Misstep Could Mean War

There isn't any objection to the continued management of the Suez by an Egyptian company, as has been the case for many years. The trouble isn't in the problem of ownership but in the kind of government that rules in Cairo. Only under a free government there can the continued operation of the canal be assured for transportation and not political purposes. Until a free government arises in Egypt — and that is what is meant by an "unfettered" country —there can be no safety for ships that seek passage through the Suez Canal.

The major powers may have to make a military demonstration to secure respect for their rights — and to protect themselves against giving a base to Soviet Russia at the eastern end of the Mediterranean. It's a military as well as a political crisis that the world faces — and if the West falters again, it could mean a chain of events which would again encourage the aggressor to take chances and bring on a world war.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Another dessicated item about our first political convention was the fact it was calibrated to 13 colonies, muddy roads and evaporation in transit.

Those political super-markets at Chicago and San Francisco handle emolument shoppers from 48 states, three territories, one government reservation with Pakistan abstaining.

Since the Ringlings hospitalized Barnum and Bailey the conventions are the only circuses that hit the road. No more will we drink the time-stained toast, "short hauls and dry lots."

The convention chatter-fests are extravagant expositions of our free and equal compromises and Democratic conniving. Never before has man's inhumanity to man been polled by delegations.

If you fall by the wayside they give you a cool sip of dust from a vacuum cleaner. If you run a temperature they pop corn on your chest. And if you break a leg they put it up in curl papers.

Hints To Help Avoid Being Struck By Lightning

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A bolt of lightning may not be as destructive as a hydrogen bomb but it still packs a wallop. The electric discharge carries millions of volts and thousands of amperes and destroys any object that stands in its way. We cannot prevent lightning but we can do something about the places it is likely to strike.

Our construction engineers have made steel skyscrapers immune to damage from this phenomenon and the same can be said of commercial chimneys, church spires, and monuments. Many of these tall structures act as lightning rods for an entire community. The Underwriters' Laboratories have ample proof of the wisdom of installing protective devices.

But the situation is different in rural areas and on lakes and golf courses. A man in a rowboat may be just as vulnerable to a bolt in the middle of a lake as the Empire State Building is in the center of Manhattan. Both are the tallest targets in their respective areas.

Every week stories appear in the newspapers about golfers and fishermen being killed from this cause. Never get caught in the open during a thunderstorm. Get out of the water as soon as possible. Look for a house and don't stand near an open window or the fireplace.

Hunters, hikers, and picnickers ought to head for a cave, depression in the ground, or the foot of a steep overhanging cliff in case there is no other shelter. An alternative is to get into the car or lie flat on the ground as it is better to get wet than toasted. Never stand under a tree. Electricity strikes the top branches and after the bolt reaches the base it runs around the ground and hits everything in its path.

Recently one of our women executives was weeding her garden when three things happened simultaneously: She saw a ball of fire, the ground beneath her rose, and she was struck on the back of the neck by a heavy object. Lightning had hit a nearby tree, which sent pieces flying in all directions.

Standing in a forest is different because, when lightning strikes, the chances of being under the selected tree are lessened. Avoid wire fences and the pin that holds the flag in the middle of the golf green.

The individual who has been stunned by nature's artillery is given the same treatment as for drowning — artificial respiration. This procedure should be started as soon as possible even though breathing has stopped. Oxygen is administered when it is available.

TOMORROW: Impetigo is highly contagious.

BITS OF SKIN

V. T. writes: What are skin tags?

REPLY

Tiny, flesh-colored projections from the skin, particularly of the neck. Some are warty growths but others consist entirely of skin. They are easily removed with an electric needle.

MEDICAL CARE, MENOPAUSE

Mrs. J. writes: Is it necessary for a woman to be under a physician's care during the menopause?

REPLY

Not unless she is one of the 10 per cent with incapacitating symptoms. On the other hand, it is advisable to get into the habit of periodic checkups after age 40.

MODERN INDUSTRIES

W. C. T. writes: Is it true that most medicines prescribed today were not known 10 years ago?

REPLY

Yes. It has been said that 90 per cent of the drugs on the druggist's shelf today were not available 15 years ago. The same thing applies in a general way to foods and textiles.

BRAIN DAMAGE

Mrs. K. writes: Just what is cerebral palsy?

REPLY

The condition has been referred to as "an aggregate of physical, intellectual, and emotional handicaps resulting from brain damage before, during, or after birth." Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet, which goes into more detail.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Lemon Yielded Six Hits For 14th Win; Mantle Is Blanked

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1 (AP) — Bob Lemon pitched the Cleveland Indians to a 5-1 victory over the New York Yankees tonight, aided by four double plays. The 35-year-old righthander, shelled from the mound in the second inning of the series Monday, came back tonight with a six hit performance, missing a shutout on a homer by Hank Bauer.

It was the Indians' second straight victory over the Yanks, and cut New York's lead to eight games. For Lemon it was his 14th victory against eight losses.

The Indians scored all their runs in the first two innings to give Tommy Byrne, 36-year-old southpaw, his second defeat in eight decisions. Rip Coleman and Mickey McDermott blanked the Indians the rest of the way, with Mcdermott fanning seven in the last five innings.

Until Bauer's homer in the fifth, the only hits off Lemon were singles by Bill Skowron and Andy Carey. Both were wiped out by double plays. Two more Indian doubleplays wiped out Yankee threats in the sixth and seventh innings.

By C. V. BURNS

FOR THE ELEVENTH consecutive year since American Legion junior baseball was revived in Mountain District, Allegany county will be represented in the Maryland Department championship tournament when Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 of this city opposes Glenmar Post of Baltimore county in an opening round contest tomorrow at 10 a. m. at College Park.

In the past ten double elimination tournaments, Fort Cumberland Post has been the Mountain District's standard bearer six times, Midland Post has seen action twice and James P. Love Post, Lonaconing, and Victory Post, Westernport, once each.

Over the span of 10 years, only once has a Mountain District nine won more than one game in any tourney. That was in 1951 when Victory Post put out Francis Scott Key Post of Frederick, 3-0 and 13-12, but lost to Parkville, 10-9, and Silver Spring, 7-0.

Allegany county teams were ushered out of the tourney in two straight games four years in a row, 1946 through 1949.

Morris Frock Post, Hagerstown, which failed to qualify for the state games this year, put the crusher on Mountain District teams four times, Westport Post of Baltimore did it thrice, and Grantley Post, of Baltimore, Silver Spring and Pikesville once each. Westport is among the teams entered in this week's event.

Mountain District teams have played in 27 state games in 10 years, winning seven while losing 20. They lost seven out of eight games to Hagerstown and dropped five in a row to Westport.

Here's how the teams from this section have fared in state games since the war:

1946—Westport beat Fort Cumberland two straight, 5-4 and 3-2.
1947—Morris Frock beat Fort Cumberland, 5-2, and Westport beat Fort Cumberland 10-4.
1948—Morris Frock Post beat James P. Love Post twice, 12-7, 24-3.
1949—Clifton Post, Baltimore, beat Fort Cumberland, 15-1, and Morris Frock beat Fort Cumberland, 13-3.
1950—Midland Post beat Morris Frock in opener, 13-4, but lost second and third games of series, 11-6 and 3-2.
1951—Victory Post beat Frederick, 3-0, 13-12, but lost to Parkville, 10-9, and Silver Spring, 7-0.
1952—Midland Post split a pair of 3-2 games with Silver Spring and was eliminated by Westport, 7-1.
1953—Fort Cumberland beat Salisbury, 8-0, but lost to Silver Spring 10-0 and Grantley, Baltimore, 3-1.
1954—Fort Cumberland beat Bel Air, 6-3, but lost to Colmar Manor, 5-0, and Pikesville, 6-5.
1955—Fort Cumberland Post defeated Salisbury, 8-5, then lost to Westport, 16-4, and Morris Frock, 18-2.

Triplett lost to New Orleans in the opener, 5-4, Fleming won the second game in 13 innings, 4-3, and Triplett posted a 6-1 victory over the Louisiana nine in the championship contest.

There was no state tourney in Maryland that year and Cumberland won the title unchallenged.

In the regional at Bethlehem, Triplett beat Huntington, W. Va., 6-1, and Fleming turned back York, Pa., 2-1, decisioning Kenny Raffensberger, who later starred in the major leagues.

At Gastonia, N. N., Triplett mastered Cincinnati, 6-0, and Charlotte, N. C., 6-5, and from there the Earl Brooks-Frank Zahradka aggregation went on to Chicago to whip New Orleans for national honors.

Zahradka is a native of Bremen, Germany. His parents came to this country in 1902 and settled at Steelton, Pa. Two years later they moved to Cumberland.

In the 29 national tournaments conducted since 1926, Baltimore in 1930 and Cumberland in 1934 were Maryland's only winners. Cincinnati has won the most national titles — four. The Ohioans won last year and went ahead of San Diego and Los Angeles which have three wins each to their credit.

JIM CLINGAN, Cumberland righthander, is back on the active list of the Columbus, Ga., (Sally League) team, after recovering from a shoulder injury which he suffered in a collision with an opposing player while trying to break up a double play.

Clingan's injury turned out to be not as serious as first reported.

Dr. George E. Bennett, of Baltimore, however, told Jim to "take it easy" the remainder of the season.

Clingan, who first attracted attention as a pitcher at Allegany High School, had won 7 and lost 2 for the Class A league team, Baltimore Orioles' affiliate, before he was injured.

Wilson has won ten and lost five amateur bouts.

Tippett has announced he will turn pro on September 9.

TOMMY RICHARDS, former Beall High pitching ace, is reported doing well with the Waterloo Club in the Three-Eye League.

Latest reports show that the Carlos righthander has won five out of six games and is hitting over .300.

Incidenially, Tommy's brother George, a southpaw, just out of the army, worked out with the Pirates on Monday at Forbes Field. George pitched sandlot ball in the Pen-Mar League before going into the service. He is employed at Akron, Ohio.

Pirates Drop 7th Straight

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1 (AP)—Willard Schmidt gave up only six hits tonight in pitching the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-1 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates, who went down to their seventh consecutive defeat.

The Cards, helped with an error of omission and one of commission, sewed up the contest in the second inning with two runs.

Starter Ronnie Kline allowed a leadoff single to Ken Boyer and seemed out of trouble as he got the next two batters. Then outfielder Lee Walls misjudged Charley Peete's fly and it fell safely for a run-scoring triple. Third baseman Frank Thomas then booted a grounder by Hal Smith and Peete came home.

The Pirates' lone tally came in the second when the Pirates got three of their hits.

In the seventh the Cards scored their other two runs on a two-out triple by Stan Musial. It tallied Schmidt who had singled and Don Blasingame who had walked.

Giants Jolt Redlegs, 3-1

Gomez Is Injured After 1-Hit Stint

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Ruben Gomez limited Cincinnati to one hit in seven innings, and contributed a vital two-bagger that started the New York Giants on a 2-run rally in the seventh inning to down the Redlegs 3-1 today at the Polo Grounds.

The second place Redlegs were limited to a pair of singles, one by Wally Post in the third inning and another by pinchhitter Stan Palys in the eighth after Gomez was forced to retire.

Gomez, who had been defeated by Cincinnati three times this season without a victory, led off the Giants' seventh with a double to left, but pulled a muscle in his left shoulder sliding into second base.

Don Mueller singled to center, breaking a 1-1 deadlock, and went to third on Red Schoendienst's two-bagger to right center. Willie Mays was purposely passed to fill the bases, and Johnny Klippstein was replaced on the Cincinnati mound by Joe Nuxhall. Bill White's deep sacrifice fly to Post in right field scored Mueller with an extra tally.

The hard hitting Redlegs got their only run without the benefit of a hit in the fourth inning when Roy McMillan led off with a walk, and Gomez hit Frankie Robinson with a pitched ball. George Crowe flied deep to Mays and McMillan went to third after the catch. He scored after Gus Bell lifted a fly ball to Mueller in right.

Bob Satterfield Is Stopped In 5th By Harold Carter

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Aug. 1 (AP) — Harold Carter of Linden, N.J., literally punched veteran Bob Satterfield all over the ring tonight, stopping the Chicago boxer in 2:59 of the fifth of a scheduled 10-rounder. Carter weighed 194, Satterfield 185½.

Carter put his opponent down three times in the round to win by the automatic 3-knockdown, in one round rule.

Pinch Single By Mitchell Beats Braves

Infield Hit In 8th Gives Labine Win Over Lew Burdette

BROOKLYN, Aug. 1 (AP) — Dale Mitchell, who joined Brooklyn from Cleveland just 24 hours earlier, beat out a pinch-hit infield chopper to drive in the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning tonight, beating Milwaukee 2-1 and hoisting the third place Dodgers to within three games of the National League leading Braves.

The high bouncer to third baseman Ed Mathews, which the 35-year-old Mitchell barely beat out, knocked out a brilliant pitching job by righthander Lew Burdette, who struck out 10 while taking his 6th defeat in 18 decisions.

Clem Labine won his second in as many nights, coming on in relief of Sal Maglie when the Braves tied it 1-all in the seventh inning.

Jackie Robinson opened the deciding eighth for the Brooks with a single to left and churned on to second when Bobby Thomson bobbled the pick up. Gil Hodges sacrificed Jackie to third. Second baseman Jack Dittmer then made a leaping stab of Sandy Amoros' chop and threw him out while Robinson held third. Burdette next walked Roy Campanella intentionally and Mitchell, picked up for the waiver price from the Indians, then delivered the payoff.

Waivers Asked On Hoot Evers

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 1 (AP) — The long playing career of Walter (Hoot) Evers, Baltimore Orioles' outfielder, apparently has ended.

Manager Paul Richards has asked waivers on the 35-year-old veteran to make room for infielder Grady Hatton, who was purchased from the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday for the $10,000 waiver price.

Other major league clubs have 72 hours to claim Evers, but Hoot sees little chance of anyone taking him.

Evers can stay in the Baltimore organization if he isn't claimed. Richards has offered him a scouting post and also suggested Evers may move into a manager's job in the Oriole farm system next season.

Bauer Homer Is Only Run For New York

Lemon Yielded Six Hits For 14th Win; Mantle Is Blanked

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1 (AP) — Bob Lemon pitched the Cleveland Indians to a 5-1 victory over the New York Yankees tonight, aided by four double plays. The 35-year-old righthander, shelled from the mound in the second inning of the series Monday, came back tonight with a six hit performance, missing a shutout on a homer by Hank Bauer.

It was the Indians' second straight victory over the Yanks, and cut New York's lead to eight games. For Lemon it was his 14th victory against eight losses.

The Indians scored all their runs in the first two innings to give Tommy Byrne, 36-year-old southpaw, his second defeat in eight decisions. Rip Coleman and Mickey McDermott blanked the Indians the rest of the way, with Mcdermott fanning seven in the last five innings.

Until Bauer's homer in the fifth, the only hits off Lemon were singles by Bill Skowron and Andy Carey. Both were wiped out by double plays. Two more Indian doubleplays wiped out Yankee threats in the sixth and seventh innings.

FOR THE ELEVENTH consecutive year since American Legion junior baseball was revived in Mountain District, Allegany county will be represented in the Maryland Department championship tournament when Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 of this city opposes Glenmar Post of Baltimore county in an opening round contest tomorrow at 10 a. m. at College Park.

In the past ten double elimination tournaments, Fort Cumberland Post has been the Mountain District's standard bearer six times, Midland Post has seen action twice and James P. Love Post, Lonaconing, and Victory Post, Westernport, once each.

Over the span of 10 years, only once has a Mountain District nine won more than one game in any tourney. That was in 1951 when Victory Post put out Francis Scott Key Post of Frederick, 3-0 and 13-12, but lost to Parkville, 10-9, and Silver Spring, 7-0.

Allegany county teams were ushered out of the tourney in two straight games four years in a row, 1946 through 1949.

Morris Frock Post, Hagerstown, which failed to qualify for the state games this year, put the crusher on Mountain District teams four times, Westport Post of Baltimore did it thrice, and Grantley Post, of Baltimore, Silver Spring and Pikesville once each. Westport is among the teams entered in this week's event.

Mountain District teams have played in 27 state games in 10 years, winning seven while losing 20. They lost seven out of eight games to Hagerstown and dropped five in a row to Westport.

Here's how the teams from this section have fared in state games since the war:

1946—Westport beat Fort Cumberland two straight, 5-4 and 3-2.
1947—Morris Frock beat Fort Cumberland, 5-2, and Westport beat Fort Cumberland 10-4.
1948—Morris Frock Post beat James P. Love Post twice, 12-7, 24-3.
1949—Clifton Post, Baltimore, beat Fort Cumberland, 15-1, and Morris Frock beat Fort Cumberland, 13-3.
1950—Midland Post beat Morris Frock in opener, 13-4, but lost second and third games of series, 11-6 and 3-2.
1951—Victory Post beat Frederick, 3-0, 13-12, but lost to Parkville, 10-9, and Silver Spring, 7-0.
1952—Midland Post split a pair of 3-2 games with Silver Spring and was eliminated by Westport, 7-1.
1953—Fort Cumberland beat Salisbury, 8-0, but lost to Silver Spring 10-0 and Grantley, Baltimore, 3-1.
1954—Fort Cumberland beat Bel Air, 6-3, but lost to Colmar Manor, 5-0, and Pikesville, 6-5.

Triplett lost to New Orleans in the opener, 5-4, Fleming won the second game in 13 innings, 4-3, and Triplett posted a 6-1 victory over the Louisiana nine in the championship contest.

There was no state tourney in Maryland that year and Cumberland won the title unchallenged.

In the regional at Bethlehem, Triplett beat Huntington, W. Va., 6-1, and Fleming turned back York, Pa., 2-1, decisioning Kenny Raffensberger, who later starred in the major leagues.

At Gastonia, N. N., Triplett mastered Cincinnati, 6-0, and Charlotte, N. C., 6-5, and from there the Earl Brooks-Frank Zahradka aggregation went on to Chicago to whip New Orleans for national honors.

Zahradka is a native of Bremen, Germany. His parents came to this country in 1902 and settled at Steelton, Pa. Two years later they moved to Cumberland.

In the 29 national tournaments conducted since 1926, Baltimore in 1930 and Cumberland in 1934 were Maryland's only winners. Cincinnati has won the most national titles — four. The Ohioans won last year and went ahead of San Diego and Los Angeles which have three wins each to their credit.

JIM CLINGAN, Cumberland righthander, is back on the active list of the Columbus, Ga., (Sally League) team, after recovering from a shoulder injury which he suffered in a collision with an opposing player while trying to break up a double play.

Clingan's injury turned out to be not as serious as first reported.

Dr. George E. Bennett, of Baltimore, however, told Jim to "take it easy" the remainder of the season.

Clingan, who first attracted attention as a pitcher at Allegany High School, had won 7 and lost 2 for the Class A league team, Baltimore Orioles' affiliate, before he was injured.

Wilson has won ten and lost five amateur bouts.

Tippett has announced he will turn pro on September 9.

TOMMY RICHARDS, former Beall High pitching ace, is reported doing well with the Waterloo Club in the Three-Eye League.

Latest reports show that the Carlos righthander has won five out of six games and is hitting over .300.

Incidentally, Tommy's brother George, a southpaw, just out of the army, worked out with the Pirates on Monday at Forbes Field. George pitched sandlot ball in the Pen-Mar League before going into the service. He is employed at Akron, Ohio.

Pirates Drop 7th Straight

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1 (AP)—Willard Schmidt gave up only six hits tonight in pitching the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-1 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates, who went down to their seventh consecutive defeat.

Starter Ronnie Kline allowed a leadoff single to Ken Boyer and seemed out of trouble as he got the next two batters. Then outfielder Lee Walls misjudged Charley Peete's fly and it fell safely for a run-scoring triple. Third baseman Frank Thomas then booted a grounder by Hal Smith and Peete came home.

The Pirates' lone tally came in the second when the Pirates got three of their hits.

In the seventh the Cards scored their other two runs on a two-out triple by Stan Musial. It tallied Schmidt who had singled and Don Blasingame who had walked.

Giants Jolt Redlegs, 3-1

Gomez Is Injured After 1-Hit Stint

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Ruben Gomez limited Cincinnati to one hit in seven innings, and contributed a vital two-bagger that started the New York Giants on a 2-run rally in the seventh inning to down the Redlegs 3-1 today at the Polo Grounds.

The second place Redlegs were limited to a pair of singles, one by Wally Post in the third inning and another by pinchhitter Stan Palys in the eighth after Gomez was forced to retire.

Gomez, who had been defeated by Cincinnati three times this season without a victory, led off the Giants' seventh with a double to left, but pulled a muscle in his left shoulder sliding into second base.

Don Mueller singled to center, breaking a 1-1 deadlock, and went to third on Red Schoendienst's two-bagger to right center. Willie Mays was purposely passed to fill the bases, and Johnny Klippstein was replaced on the Cincinnati mound by Joe Nuxhall. Bill White's deep sacrifice fly to Post in right field scored Mueller with an extra tally.

The hard hitting Redlegs got their only run without the benefit of a hit in the fourth inning when Roy McMillan led off with a walk, and Gomez hit Frankie Robinson with a pitched ball. George Crowe flied deep to Mays and McMillan went to third after the catch. He scored after Gus Bell lifted a fly ball to Mueller in right.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Aug. 1 (AP) — Harold Carter of Linden, N.J., literally punched veteran Bob Satterfield all over the ring tonight, stopping the Chicago boxer in 2:59 of the fifth of a scheduled 10-rounder. Carter weighed 194, Satterfield 185½.

Carter put his opponent down three times in the round to win by the automatic 3-knockdown, in one round rule.

The New Jersey youth, punching cleanly despite Satterfield's hang - on strategy, was ranked ninth going into the fight. He made it clear he has the stamina to replace the sixth-ranked Satterfield on the heavyweight ladder.

It was unanimous all the way for Carter. Both judges, Paul Cummins and Richie Fazio, the referee, Teddy Martin, and The Associated Press all had the first four rounds for Carter.

Pinch Single By Mitchell Beats Braves

Infield Hit In 8th Gives Labine Win Over Lew Burdette

BROOKLYN, Aug. 1 (AP) — Dale Mitchell, who joined Brooklyn from Cleveland just 24 hours earlier, beat out a pinch-hit infield chopper to drive in the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning tonight, beating Milwaukee 2-1 and hoisting the third place Dodgers to within three games of the National League leading Braves.

The high bouncer to third baseman Ed Mathews, which the 35-year-old Mitchell barely beat out, knocked out a brilliant pitching job by righthander Lew Burdette, who struck out 10 while taking his 6th defeat in 18 decisions.

Clem Labine won his second in as many nights, coming on in relief of Sal Maglie when the Braves tied it 1-all in the seventh inning.

Jackie Robinson opened the deciding eighth for the Brooks with a single to left and churned on to second when Bobby Thomson bobbled the pick up. Gil Hodges sacrificed Jackie to third. Second baseman Jack Dittmer then made a leaping stab of Sandy Amoros' chop and threw him out while Robinson held third. Burdette next walked Roy Campanella intentionally and Mitchell, picked up for the waiver price from the Indians, then delivered the payoff.

Waivers Asked On Hoot Evers

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 1 (AP) — The long playing career of Walter (Hoot) Evers, Baltimore Orioles' outfielder, apparently has ended.

Manager Paul Richards has asked waivers on the 35-year-old veteran to make room for infielder Grady Hatton, who was purchased from the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday for the $10,000 waiver price.

Other major league clubs have 72 hours to claim Evers, but Hoot sees little chance of anyone taking him.

Evers can stay in the Baltimore organization if he isn't claimed. Richards has offered him a scouting post and also suggested Evers may move into a manager's job in the Oriole farm system next season.

Sports Car Hill Climb Has Record Number Of Entries

43 Trophies Are Offered Drivers In Sunday Event

Robert Hainsfurther Is Honorary Starter; GM Corvette Entered

So many entries are being received for the second running of the annual Breakneck National Sports Car Hill Climb to be held here Sunday, that some of the low point drivers will probably be scratched, so that only the best cars and drivers will compete.

Hotel and motel reservations are piling up rapidly and an influx of many visitors is expected beginning Thursday night. It will be the second time this year that Cumberland and this vicinity has become a sports car mecca.

Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, general chairman of the hill climb event, explains that all proceeds from the affair will go for the benefit of the Flintstone Volunteer Fire Company, co-sponsors of the hill climb with the Sports Car Club of America, Inc. and the Washington Region, Sports Car Club of America, Inc.

Corvette In First Run

Among the entries here which are arousing considerable comment among sports car fans and spectators, is an announcement by General Motors that its specially built Corvette, America's newest answer to European Sports Car competition, will make its first major test run here Sunday.

Driven by Dr. Richard Thompson, a Washington dentist and a former national high point man in sports car competition, the new Corvette has been entirely redesigned. It is a fast racey model, 500 pounds lighter than its original counterpart, and with specifications that are, for the time at least, being kept top secret.

Since most sports cars are imported from Italy, France, Germany, England and Spain, this new American car is being watched with a great deal of interest. Special streamlining to reduce wind resistance, special type air cooled brakes, new style carburetors, new type V engine and many other features are spoken of in a hush-hush manner.

All of the sports car drivers who are entering the Breakneck run to stay in national point competition, as well as to test their skill on this mile and a half-long 22 per cent grade, will be watching the success and performance of the American car closely.

A race in Washington state was cancelled by the Corvette so it could make its initial run on Cumberland's challenging course.

Dr. Skitarelic said last night that some additional committeemen have been named to assist with Sunday's all-day competition.

Robert M. Hainsfurther, plant manager of the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company Works No. 7 will be an honorary starter.

Lt. W. F. O'Hara of the Maryland State Police has been appointed safety marshall along with Walter Haun of Washington.

Members of the fire company on committees include, Austin Miller and Cleland Helmick in charge of grounds; Lawrence Smith and Berthred Hill in charge of concessions; Cleland Helmick, program; and Jesse Marshall, treasurer.

To Present 43 Trophies

After the races are concluded, 43 trophies will be presented in the various classes on the track. The presentation is scheduled for 5:30 p.m.

Dr. Skitarelic said last night that the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has presented a large trophy for the driver with the best time at Breakneck. The trophy will be presented each year, and a driver must win it three times in order to retain permanent possession.

Auxiliary Police from Cumberland will assist with parking and safety at the hill climb area. The Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company will have its ambulance at the scene and will also station volunteer firemen every 300 yards along the course, armed with carbon dioxide fire extinguishers in case there is an accident and fire.

The local Red Cross will set up a first aid station and a Civilian Defense Rescue Team will also be on volunteer duty.

Everything possible has been done to assure the safety of the several thousand spectators expected, as well as the safety of the drivers of the fast, powerful vehicles, the chairman noted.

Chuck Stobbs Beats Pale Hose 4th Time

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Washington Nats, forced into overtime by Sam Esposito's home run, rallied for four runs in the tenth today to give lefthander Chuck Stobbs a 6-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Stobbs gave up nine hits in defeating the Sox for the fourth time this season.

Jim Wilson, who had yielded only seven hits for nine innings, walked Eddie Yost to open the tenth. As the Sox anticipated a sacrifice bunt, Whitey Herzog swung and lined a double to left center, scoring Yost. Herzog was out trying to stretch the hit to a triple.

Pete Runnels drew a walk and when Roy Sievers singled, Paul LaPalme replaced Wilson. Jim Lemon grounded to Luis Aparicio, who threw wildly to the plate, Runnels scoring and the other runners taking an extra base. Ed Fitz-Gerald singled to score Karl Olson, who ran for Sievers, and Lemon.

Each side had scored an unearned run early in the game and the Nats had a 2-1 lead on Lemon's homer until Esposito's smash tied things up.

Brewer Posts 15th Victory Over Detroit

Williams, Jensen Star In 5-4 Battle

DETROIT, Aug. 1 (AP) — Tom Brewer won his 15th game as Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen hit home runs to account for all the Boston Red Sox scoring today in a 5-4 decision over the Detroit Tigers.

Brewer, who has lost only three, needed a sparkling ninth-inning relief chore from Tommy Hurd to beat down a Tiger rally. Hurd, taking over with the bases loaded and one out, struck out slugger Charley Maxwell and got Al Kaline on a fly to left field.

Williams, hitless in the first two games of the current series, blasted a three-run homer in the first inning off Paul Foytack. It was Williams' 10th of the season.

Jensen's 12th home run came in the seventh behind a single by Mickey Vernon and iced the contest.

Held to a pair of singles for five innings, the Tigers reached the righthanded Brewer for two runs in the sixth on a single by Earl Torgeson, a triple by Maxwell and a single by Kaline. Detroit added one in the eighth on Maxwell's 20th home run in the upper right field deck.

Calhoun Moves To 10th Place In Ring Ratings

Maxim Is Dropped From Elite List

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Three young fighters, who have caught the eyes of the fans with impressive victories in the past few months, were rewarded today with a ranking among the top boxers in the latest monthly Ring magazine ratings.

Strong, hard-hitting Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N.Y., was placed tenth among the middleweights on the strength of his 22-0 record, including 12 knockouts. New York featherweights Ike Chestnut and Miguel Berrios were ranked ninth and tenth, respectively, among the 126-pounders following their triumphs in national television scraps.

Another undefeated fighter, young Eddie Machen of Redding, Calif., was boosted from 10th to eighth among the heavyweights. He racked up his 15th victory in stopping Nino Valdes, the Cuban giant, in eight rounds.

The scale tilted the other way for veteran Joey Maxim. The former light heavyweight champion was dropped from the elite list of the 175-pounders for the first time in many years. Tony Anthony of New York replaced the Clevelander, taking over the No. 7 spot among the contenders.

France's Robert Cohen, who lost his bantamweight crown to Italy's Mario D'Agata, was given the No. 2 position behind Mexico's Raul (Raton) Macias. Macias is recognized as the 118-pound king by the NBA.

Brewer Posts 15th Victory Over Detroit

Williams, Jensen Star In 5-4 Battle

DETROIT, Aug. 1 (AP) — Tom Brewer won his 15th game as Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen hit home runs to account for all the Boston Red Sox scoring today in a 5-4 decision over the Detroit Tigers.

Brewer, who has lost only three, needed a sparkling ninth-inning relief chore from Tommy Hurd to beat down a Tiger rally. Hurd, taking over with the bases loaded and one out, struck out slugger Charley Maxwell and got Al Kaline on a fly to left field.

Williams, hitless in the first two games of the current series, blasted a three-run homer in the first inning off Paul Foytack. It was Williams' 10th of the season.

Jensen's 12th home run came in the seventh behind a single by Mickey Vernon and iced the contest.

Held to a pair of singles for five innings, the Tigers reached the righthanded Brewer for two runs in the sixth on a single by Earl Torgeson, a triple by Maxwell and a single by Kaline. Detroit added one in the eighth on Maxwell's 20th home run in the upper right field deck.

Gary Nixon Trails By Three Strokes

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Aug. 1 (AP)—State amateur champ Ed Tutwiler of Charleston took a three-stroke lead midway in the 72-hole West Virginia Open Golf Tournament here today.

Tutwiler put together two birdies and 16 pars for a two-under par 68 in the second round of play and a 36-hole total of 138.

Dave Clovis, Parkersburg amateur, moved into the third spot with a 144 while Joe Taylor, Charleston pro, was next with a 145.

Rut Coffey, the Moundsville pro, who shared yesterday's first round lead with Tutwiler, fell by the wayside in today's play on the Greenbrier course. Coffey had a disastrous time of it on No. 14 when he four-putted to send his 36-hole total soaring to 146.

Senators	8	4	Dodgers	4	6
Indians	6	3	Tigers	1	11

The Senators tied the Braves for first place in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League yesterday when they won a 15-14 slugfest from the Tigers while "Whip" Kreitzburg's Indians were scalping the Braves to the tune of 5-2.

Reliefer Joe Ranker halted the Tigers after the latter had scored eight runs in the fourth and took a 14-13 lead.

John Roy hit safely four times in four trips for the Senators, including a two-bagger, Lester Cameron smashed a two-run homer and two singles and Bobby Pabst banged a triple. Pinchhitter Dale Ardinger homered with two on base in the fourth for the Tigers. Killen smacked a triple and Mooney a two-bagger.

Jim Stratton of the Indians tossed a two-hitter, whiffed 15 Braves and started his team on the road to victory in the first inning when he belted a home run. Yogi Marrale had two of the Tribe's five safeties. Both of the Braves' hits were credited to Sloan. "Chuck" Fields excelled at second base for the Braves making several nice fielding plays. Jim Stewart, losing hurler, struck out nine. Scores:

Calhoun Moves To 10th Place In Ring Ratings

Maxim Is Dropped From Elite List

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Three young fighters, who have caught the eyes of the fans with impressive victories in the past few months, were rewarded today with a ranking among the top boxers in the latest monthly Ring magazine ratings.

Strong, hard-hitting Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N.Y., was placed tenth among the middleweights on the strength of his 22-0 record, including 12 knockouts. New York featherweights Ike Chestnut and Miguel Berrios were ranked ninth and tenth, respectively, among the 126-pounders following their triumphs in national television scraps.

Another undefeated fighter, young Eddie Machen of Redding, Calif., was boosted from 10th to eighth among the heavyweights. He racked up his 15th victory in stopping Nino Valdes, the Cuban giant, in eight rounds.

The scale tilted the other way for veteran Joey Maxim. The former light heavyweight champion was dropped from the elite list of the 175-pounders for the first time in many years. Tony Anthony of New York replaced the Clevelander, taking over the No. 7 spot among the contenders.

France's Robert Cohen, who lost his bantamweight crown to Italy's Mario D'Agata, was given the No. 2 position behind Mexico's Raul (Raton) Macias. Macias is recognized as the 118-pound king by the NBA.

Leslie Combs' Offer For Swaps Refused

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 1 (AP) — Leslie Combs II, who heads the syndicate owning Nashua, says he and Rex Ellsworth "haven't gotten down to real brass tacks" yet on Combs' offer to purchase Swaps.

"I've got first refusal on him (Swaps)," Combs said yesterday. "Ellsworth and I have discussed the proposition, but there's nothing definite to announce at this time. I'm still hot and heavy after him."

Opening lead: King of hearts.

A set of circumstances conspired to victimize West in today's deal. Against South's game contract he was apparently in the fortunate position of having available the ideal combination of cards for an opening lead, the ace, king, queen, of a suit. The "dream" lead, ironically enough proved less than ideal.

At risk of appearing to be stuffy, we should like to maintain that based on clews derived from the auction, the lead of a trump was rather to be favored.

West's opening bid, and East's single raise, were routine calls. South's first bid, though it had a somewhat dramatic flavor, was also strictly routine. No other action could possibly do justice to the holding. North had no choice but to respond three no trump and South followed natural impulses in proceeding to four spades tho it will be seen that there was no defense to a game contract at no trump.

East and West seem to your observer to have adopted a namby-pamby position. If they were convinced that South was in good position to meet his commitment, then a sacrifice bid of five hearts, which could hardly prove exorbitant, must recommend itself.

West opened the king of hearts which declarer ruffed high and led a spade to dummy's eight. Then came the jack of hearts and South discarded a diamond. West won and shifted to a diamond which declarer won. Crossing to dummy with the nine of spades, he led the ten of hearts, discarding his remaining diamond. The nine of hearts now provided a discard for one of the losing clubs and declarer was home with his contract.

If West was willing to take his chances on defeating the contract, he should have taken pains to give the greatest possible protection to his high card holding. This purpose could best be served by leading a trump, against which defense declarer would have been powerless to bring home the hand.

In the Middle Ages, ears of wheat, symbolic of plenty, were worn or carried by the bride.

Leslie Combs' Offer For Swaps Refused

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 1 (AP) — Leslie Combs II, who heads the syndicate owning Nashua, says he and Rex Ellsworth "haven't gotten down to real brass tacks" yet on Combs' offer to purchase Swaps.

"I've got first refusal on him (Swaps)," Combs said yesterday. "Ellsworth and I have discussed the proposition, but there's nothing definite to announce at this time. I'm still hot and heavy after him."

Opening lead: King of hearts.

A set of circumstances conspired to victimize West in today's deal. Against South's game contract he was apparently in the fortunate position of having available the ideal combination of cards for an opening lead, the ace, king, queen, of a suit. The "dream" lead, ironically enough proved less than ideal.

At risk of appearing to be stuffy, we should like to maintain that based on clews derived from the auction, the lead of a trump was rather to be favored.

West's opening bid, and East's single raise, were routine calls. South's first bid, though it had a somewhat dramatic flavor, was also strictly routine. No other action could possibly do justice to the holding. North had no choice but to respond three no trump and South followed natural impulses in proceeding to four spades tho it will be seen that there was no defense to a game contract at no trump.

East and West seem to your observer to have adopted a namby-pamby position. If they were convinced that South was in good position to meet his commitment, then a sacrifice bid of five hearts, which could hardly prove exorbitant, must recommend itself.

West opened the king of hearts which declarer ruffed high and led a spade to dummy's eight. Then came the jack of hearts and South discarded a diamond. West won and shifted to a diamond which declarer won. Crossing to dummy with the nine of spades, he led the ten of hearts, discarding his remaining diamond. The nine of hearts now provided a discard for one of the losing clubs and declarer was home with his contract.

If West was willing to take his chances on defeating the contract, he should have taken pains to give the greatest possible protection to his high card holding. This purpose could best be served by leading a trump, against which defense declarer would have been powerless to bring home the hand.

In the Middle Ages, ears of wheat, symbolic of plenty, were worn or carried by the bride.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

H M N E Z P H M K A W M U W X K, A C A E N P H U P H U W H Z W M O A-N W F K S Y T N—E C W O.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: THE FRETFUL STIR UNPROFITABLE, AND THE FEVER OF THE WORLD—WORDSWORTH.

Card of Thanks

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to all our relatives, friends, and neighbors for their many expressions of sympathy in our bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Norman C. Garlitz. We also wish to thank the Rev. Raymond Crowe, and the Rev. Edgar Suite, also all who sent floral tributes and donated their cars.

Mrs. Rhoda Garlitz and Family.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and expressions of sympathy in our bereavement, the death of our son, Danny DeVault. We wish especially to thank the faculty and class of '56 of Valley High School, Rev. Joseph Byers of The Frostburg Church of The Nazarene, those who sent flowers and donated the use of their cars.

Mr. & Mrs. Charles W. DeVault and Family.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. Margaret Metzner, who passed away 7 years ago on August 2nd.

She has gone across the river
To the shores of evergreen.
How we long to see her dear face
But the river flows between.
Sadly missed by her
Daughters and Sons.

Card of Thanks

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to all our relatives, friends, and neighbors for their many expressions of sympathy in our bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Norman C. Garlitz. We also wish to thank the Rev. Raymond Crowe, and the Rev. Edgar Suite, also all who sent floral tributes and donated their cars.

Mrs. Rhoda Garlitz and Family.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and expressions of sympathy in our bereavement, the death of our son, Danny DeVault. We wish especially to thank the faculty and class of '56 of Valley High School, Rev. Joseph Byers of The Frostburg Church of The Nazarene, those who sent flowers and donated the use of their cars.

Mr. & Mrs. Charles W. DeVault and Family.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. Margaret Metzner, who passed away 7 years ago on August 2nd.
She has gone across the river
To the shores of evergreen.
How we long to see her dear face
But the river flows between.
Sadly missed by her
Daughters and Sons.

Tot, 4, Dies Of Rare Illness

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 1 (AP)—The four-year-old son of a Baltimore school teacher died early today of a rare blood disease.

Chris Barnes died before he could have his birthday party. He would have been five on Friday, but the party had been moved up because of his grave condition.

Chris became ill a month ago while he was en route here from Baltimore with his mother, Mrs. Doris Barnes, and two sisters. He had been hospitalized for the last two weeks.

Mrs. Barnes was more or less reconciled to his death.

Watching him receive his eighth blood transfusion last night, she said:

"He's a very sweet, very affectionate boy. I feel he belongs to God, and I feel privileged to have had him even for so short a time."

Fox Names Malkus As Manager

SALISBURY, Aug. 1 (AP)—Hamilton P. Fox Jr., Democratic candidate for the Eastern Shore's seat in Congress, today named State Sen. Fred Malkus (D-Dorchester) as his campaign manager in the November election.

Fox, Wicomico County state's attorney, is running against incumbent Edward T. Miller, veteran Talbot County Republican who is seeking his sixth term as Congressman from the First District.

Malkus, a Cambridge attorney for the past 10 years, was elected to the House of Delegates in 1946. He was elected to the State Senate in 1950 and again in 1954, leading the ticket in his home county in the last election.

He is chairman of the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee.

Romney Youth Is Missing

A 19-year-old Romney youth has been missing from his home since Monday. Authorities of West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Columbia have been notified in an effort to locate Bobby Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hamilton.

The youth told his parents he planned to walk up the River Road to Peterkins Conference Center near Romney, but failed to return home. He apparently didn't get to the center. One person reported that he was seen in an auto bearing orange and black licenses tags, presumably District of Columbia plates. When last seen he was wearing a blue plaid shirt, light gray pants and brown shoes.

Four Area Men Enlist In Army

Sfc. Virgil F. Smith, local Army recruiter, said yesterday four area men have enlisted and have gone to Fort Jackson, S. C., to begin their basic training.

Three of the men enlisted under the Army Reserve program with two years of active duty and four years of reserve duty. They are Donald L. Paugh and Judus C. Van Meter, both of Emoryville, and Raymond W. Unger of Eckhart.

Richard T. Ryan of Eckhart enlisted in the Regular Army for three years and selected the Artillery as his branch of service.

Victim Of Burns Is 'Satisfactory'

Drake, it was reported, suffered his injuries when he threw a lighted match on a pile of brush in which a can of kerosene had been placed.

Tot, 4, Dies Of Rare Illness

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 1 (AP)—The four-year-old son of a Baltimore school teacher died early today of a rare blood disease.

Chris Barnes died before he could have his birthday party. He would have been five on Friday, but the party had been moved up because of his grave condition.

Chris became ill a month ago while he was en route here from Baltimore with his mother, Mrs. Doris Barnes, and two sisters. He had been hospitalized for the last two weeks.

Mrs. Barnes was more or less reconciled to his death.

Watching him receive his eighth blood transfusion last night, she said:

"He's a very sweet, very affectionate boy. I feel he belongs to God, and I feel privileged to have had him even for so short a time."

She'll be back teaching in Baltimore next month.

The youth told his parents he planned to walk up the River Road to Peterkins Conference Center near Romney, but failed to return home. He apparently didn't get to the center. One person reported that he was seen in an auto bearing orange and black licenses tags, presumably District of Columbia plates. City Water Budget Is Under Study

Operates In Black Under New Schedule

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the budget will be presented for the consideration of the City Council, the same as any other budget, in spite of the fact that the operation of the department does not affect the tax rate.

Working out the mechanics of the budget yesterday were Water Commissioner William J. Edwards, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, City Engineer C. R. Nuzum and Mayor Eves.

New Rates Help

Mayor Eves said it looks as if income under the rate schedule placed into effect last July 1, will about balance up with outgo.

He commented that the budget will be affected by the increased costs of servicing the Water Department debt, which was boosted $750,000 late last year to finance the construction of the water line to serve the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's plant at North Branch and to complete the current phase of the modernization of the Lake Gordon filtration plant.

There are other improvements to be made at the filter plant, he said, but they are several years off.

Work Is Deferred

The major part of this deferred work is the refacing of Lake Gordon, which is weathering. Planned to offset the effect of the elements is a gunniting job, in which concrete is blown under pressure upon the face of the structure.

A second task recommended by Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer for the waterworks modernization, is the installation of a pump which will enable the city to tap a 50-day water supply which cannot flow from the dam to the filter plant by gravity. A used pump was installed during the last water shortage.

Preliminary figures supplied by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, show that revenues of the Water Department during the last fiscal year exceeded expenses by $27,639.94.

The year before, the department spent $74,120.73 more than it took in.

Wardensville Girl Named West Va. Poultry Queen

Miss Western, daughter of a naval officer, was selected from a field of 25 contestants to reign over the three-day convention which opened yesterday and ends tomorrow.

First and second runners-up were Miss Carolyn Zirk of Franklin and Miss Polly Williams of Moorefield.

The queen received her crown from John P. Johnson, West Virginia commissioner of agriculture. She will receive a free trip to New York next month as a guest of the West Virginia Poultry Association. Just last week, she was selected queen of the Wardensville homecoming.

State Senator Ralph J. Bean of Moorefield, president of the Senate, was master of ceremonies, and judges were State Senators Glen Jackson of Logan County and William Jasper of Lewisburg, and Delegate William P. C. Perry of Charles Town.

Poultry Kings Named

Harvey Propst of Brandywine was named "semi-pro" king. The pro division is for growers with more than 5,000 birds, and the semi-pro is for those who raise fewer than 5,000.

Other winners in the pro category:

Lacy Smith, Ruddle, second; Mrs. Gae Cutright and Glen Linger of Buckhannon, tied for third; Scott Alt and Alvin Parsons of Purgittsville, tied for fourth, and Cleo Hawk, Scherr, fifth.

Semi-pro winners:

Ralph Kline, Bismarck, second; Arlie B. Simmons, Franklin, third; Glen Saville, Points, fourth, and Mrs. Ethel Holliday, High View, fifth.

Contestants in the "king" competition are judged on several points, including the weight-feed ratio of their flocks, general health of the birds, and quality of flocks, general health of the birds, and quality of flocks.

Officers Elected

The Poultry Association yesterday re-elected Jack Rudolph of Intermount president for another year. Re-elected with him were David P. Van Meter, Petersburg, vice president, and Cecil Sheppard, Petersburg, treasurer. J. Z. Elison, Morgantown, was elected secretary to succeed Robert Weidlich of Roanoke (W. Va.)

The Poultry Association in the only other business of the day, adopted a motion to become an incorporated body.

Meeting later in the afternoon, the West Virginia Poultry Improvement Association elected James Duckworth president, Edward Becker, vice president, and B. W. Moore, secretary.

Poultry growers from all over the state are attending the Poultry Festival, which will feature a big parade tonight and will wind up tomorrow night after a chicken barbecue.

Red Cross Asks Volunteers To Knit Helmets

Mrs. George W. Legge, new executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross, revealed yesterday that a request has been received for the local chapter to provide 36 knitted helmets for men stationed at Presque Isle Air Force Base off the coast of Maine.

Mrs. Legge said the Red Cross here has a supply of yarn and needs volunteers to knit the 36 helmets. Inquiry may be made at the office.

During the past few weeks, while she has been taking inventory and getting acquainted with her new position, Mrs. Legge and her volunteer assistants found in a storeroom a number of knitted items. Inquiry was made to determine if these items are needed, and immediate requests for them came through.

The variety of items were shipped and letters of gratitude have been received.

A letter from a Veterans Administration Hospital at Lexington, Ky., expressed thanks for 18 sleeveless sweaters and seven coat-type sweaters.

A letter from the US Naval Hospital at Portsmouth, Va., expressed appreciation for 34 toe socks which were needed there.

From the Veterans Administration Hospital at Kecoughton, Va., an acknowledgement and expression of thanks was received for 10 sweaters.

The VA Hospital at Brockton, Mass., sent two letters, one acknowledging receipt of 15 knitted laprobes, and a later one stating the robes are in use in the TB ward, where veterans needed them badly.

Mrs. Legge said that in view of the response for these few items, it appears that the Red Cross here might need to reorganize a volunteer production unit to meet the needs of the servicemen and disabled veterans. Such a plan is under consideration.

Girls' Camp Opens Sunday At Cliffside

Many Activities Are Scheduled

Some 45 young girls from at least six states will throng to Camp Cliffside near Blue Beach this Sunday for two weeks of outdoor summer fun.

William H. (Uncle Bill) Lewis, director of the camp for the past 14 years, said the girls, ranging in age from seven to 15 years, will get their first camp meal at 6 p.m. Sunday.

There will be plenty of outdoor activities in store for the youngsters, Lewis pointed out that after rising in the morning the campers have exercises and then a morning dip in the South Branch of the Potomac River.

Later, chapel is held and then a hearty breakfast is served. There will be games during the morning, as well as another swim.

After lunch each day, a rest period is observed, and during the afternoon various tournaments and swim events are held, as well as trips in the general area.

More swimming is held in the late afternoon, and following the 6 p.m. meal a camp fire program is held. At the end of each busy day the youngsters go to the dining hall for a snack before retiring.

Polly Method, of Romney, prepares the meals for the campers. A girl of college age is assigned to each of the nine cabins to act as counselor for the youngsters.

Lewis said last night there is room remaining for approximately 15 more girls. Full information on the camp and its facilities may be obtained by telephoning Lewis through the Romney exchange, 24F022.

Kelly Wage, SUB Fund Pact Signed

Local 26 To Name Convention Delegates

An agreement providing a 6.2 cent wage increase and other benefits was signed yesterday by Local 26, Rubber Workers (AFL-CIO), and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

James Stein, president, said the pact was inked after members of the 1,750-member union unanmously approved the agreement in meetings held Tuesday night and yesterday morning.

Negotiators for the company and the union reached agreement on the pact on Saturday.

The increase, negotiated under a wage reopening clause in the contract, is retroactive to July 23. Prior to the talks, the average wage rate at the plant was about $2.10 an hour, according to the union.

The agreement also provides for company contributions of three cents an hour into a funded supplemental unemployment benefit plan.

Local 26 has scheduled two more meetings this week. The executive board will meet today at 7 p. m. and a membership meeting will be held Saturday at 7:30 p. m.

Business will include the election of four delegates to the URCLPA's 20th annual convention which opens September 24 in Long Beach, Calif.

The adoption of a resolution opposing the fluoridation of city water was also announced.

The action, taken at a membership meeting July 21, called upon the Mayor and Council to take positive action against the introduction of fluorine into the water supply.

Fancy Equipment Is Not Needed For Fishing Rodeo

Contestants must dig their own live bait for the contest, she said.

Plans for participation and transportation are being made by leaders on the playgrounds.

Mrs. Hogan said early registration indicates a good attendance from here.

Playgrounds will be open Friday, with one leader on duty, she said.

Construction Workers Get Insurance Plan

Coverage For 1,500 Goes Into Effect

An insurance plan covering some 1,500 construction workers in this area went into effect here yesterday.

The protection will be offered by the Construction Industry Insurance Fund of Western Maryland.

It is being financed by contractors in the construction industry here, who began paying 7½ cents an hour for their workers into the fund May 1.

Charles E. Bramble, secretary-treasurer of the fund, the first of its kind in this area, said the number of workers covered by the plan is expected to reach the 2,000 mark soon.

Details of the plan will be explained in letters which will be mailed this week to all workers who are covered by the plan, negotiated last year in a two-year Building Trades contract—and a subsequent Road and Highway pact.

Effective yesterday, the insurance plan provides $1,000 life insurance and another $1,000 accidental death and dismemberment insurance for workers, plus payments of $20 a week for up to 13 weeks, beginning the first day of an accident and the eighth day of sickness.

Hospital benefits for up to 31 days is available at $10 a day for members and at $7 a day for dependents. For miscellaneous hospital fees, the fund will pay $200 to members and 75 per cent of the next $1,000, and up to $140, with the same ratio for dependents up to $1,000, for dependents.

Maternity benefits of up to $70, with immediate coverage, are provided for dependents, and surgical benefits of up to $200 are provided for both workers and dependents.

The trustees — C. M. Sanner, chairman; C. O. Belt, employer trustee; George E. Clark, employe trustee, and Bramble, explained there is no waiting period or time limit, and that dependents include the worker's wife and children from 14 days to 19 years.

The Union Labor Life Insurance Company, they said, was selected to underwrite the broad benefits.

Claim forms, they added, may be obtained from the fund's office at the Allegany Labor Temple, 125 South Liberty Streeet, or from business agents of the unions covered by the trust agreement.

Bramble said the insurance package being offered is good and that the trustees feel they will be able to offer a still better plan next year.

It is reported that the new position would be that of supervisor of the physical education program in the schools.

West Ridgeley Levee Nears Completion

The West Ridgeley levee, one of three being built in a current contract on the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project, is virtually completed, according to Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers.

The levee, he said, will be completed in a few days, except for topsoil and seeding.

Crews of the E. J. Albrecht Company are busy this week on the Cumberland side of the Potomac River, where the levee which will connect the West Side flood wall at the Moose Home with the new Cumberland-Ridgeley bridge was about half done.

Good progress is being made this week on most of the work under contract.

Hazelwood Construction Company crews were busy in Wills Creek, below the Baltimore Street Bridge, and were preparing the foundation for the batch plant which will mix concrete for its part of the contract.

The company also started work this week on the newest contract, the Mill Race and Ridgeley pumping stations.

City Water Budget Is Under Study

Operates In Black Under New Schedule

City officials were busy yesterday preparing a proposed budget for the Water Department.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the budget will be presented for the consideration of the City Council, the same as any other budget, in spite of the fact that the operation of the department does not affect the tax rate.

Working out the mechanics of the budget yesterday were Water Commissioner William J. Edwards, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, City Engineer C. R. Nuzum and Mayor Eves.

New Rates Help

Mayor Eves said it looks as if income under the rate schedule placed into effect last July 1, will about balance up with outgo.

He commented that the budget will be affected by the increased costs of servicing the Water Department debt, which was boosted $750,000 late last year to finance the construction of the water line to serve the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's plant at North Branch and to complete the current phase of the modernization of the Lake Gordon filtration plant.

There are other improvements to be made at the filter plant, he said, but they are several years off.

Work Is Deferred

The major part of this deferred work is the refacing of Lake Gordon, which is weathering. Planned to offset the effect of the elements is a gunniting job, in which concrete is blown under pressure upon the face of the structure.

A second task recommended by Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer for the waterworks modernization, is the installation of a pump which will enable the city to tap a 50-day water supply which cannot flow from the dam to the filter plant by gravity. A used pump was installed during the last water shortage.

Preliminary figures supplied by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, show that revenues of the Water Department during the last fiscal year exceeded expenses by $27,639.94.

The year before, the department spent $74,120.73 more than it took in.

Red Cross Asks Volunteers To Knit Helmets

Mrs. George W. Legge, new executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross, revealed yesterday that a request has been received for the local chapter to provide 36 knitted helmets for men stationed at Presque Isle Air Force Base off the coast of Maine.

Mrs. Legge said the Red Cross here has a supply of yarn and needs volunteers to knit the 36 helmets. Inquiry may be made at the office.

During the past few weeks, while she has been taking inventory and getting acquainted with her new position, Mrs. Legge and her volunteer assistants found in a storeroom a number of knitted items. Inquiry was made to determine if these items are needed, and immediate requests for them came through.

The variety of items were shipped and letters of gratitude have been received.

A letter from a Veterans Administration Hospital at Lexington, Ky., expressed thanks for 18 sleeveless sweaters and seven coat-type sweaters.

A letter from the US Naval Hospital at Portsmouth, Va., expressed appreciation for 34 toe socks which were needed there.

From the Veterans Administration Hospital at Kecoughton, Va., an acknowledgement and expression of thanks was received for 10 sweaters.

The VA Hospital at Brockton, Mass., sent two letters, one acknowledging receipt of 15 knitted laprobes, and a later one stating the robes are in use in the TB ward, where veterans needed them badly.

Mrs. Legge said that in view of the response for these few items, it appears that the Red Cross here might need to reorganize a volunteer production unit to meet the needs of the servicemen and disabled veterans. Such a plan is under consideration.

Girls' Camp Opens Sunday At Cliffside

Many Activities Are Scheduled

Some 45 young girls from at least six states will throng to Camp Cliffside near Blue Beach this Sunday for two weeks of outdoor summer fun.

William H. (Uncle Bill) Lewis, director of the camp for the past 14 years, said the girls, ranging in age from seven to 15 years, will get their first camp meal at 6 p.m. Sunday.

There will be plenty of outdoor activities in store for the youngsters, Lewis pointed out that after rising in the morning the campers have exercises and then a morning dip in the South Branch of the Potomac River.

Later, chapel is held and then a hearty breakfast is served. There will be games during the morning, as well as another swim.

After lunch each day, a rest period is observed, and during the afternoon various tournaments and swim events are held, as well as trips in the general area.

More swimming is held in the late afternoon, and following the 6 p.m. meal a camp fire program is held. At the end of each busy day the youngsters go to the dining hall for a snack before retiring.

Polly Method, of Romney, prepares the meals for the campers. A girl of college age is assigned to each of the nine cabins to act as counselor for the youngsters.

This Saturday the boys will break camp and return to their homes after enjoying themselves at Camp Cliffside for the past two weeks or so.

Lewis said last night there is room remaining for approximately 15 more girls. Full information on the camp and its facilities may be obtained by telephoning Lewis through the Romney exchange, 24F022.

Kelly Wage, SUB Fund Pact Signed

Local 26 To Name Convention Delegates

An agreement providing a 6.2 cent wage increase and other benefits was signed yesterday by Local 26, Rubber Workers (AFL-CIO), and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

James Stein, president, said the pact was inked after members of the 1,750-member union unanmously approved the agreement in meetings held Tuesday night and yesterday morning.

Negotiators for the company and the union reached agreement on the pact on Saturday.

The increase, negotiated under a wage reopening clause in the contract, is retroactive to July 23. Prior to the talks, the average wage rate at the plant was about $2.10 an hour, according to the union.

The agreement also provides for company contributions of three cents an hour into a funded supplemental unemployment benefit plan.

Local 26 has scheduled two more meetings this week. The executive board will meet today at 7 p. m. and a membership meeting will be held Saturday at 7:30 p. m.

Business will include the election of four delegates to the URCLPA's 20th annual convention which opens September 24 in Long Beach, Calif.

The action, taken at a membership meeting July 21, called upon the Mayor and Council to take positive action against the introduction of fluorine into the water supply.

Contestants must dig their own live bait for the contest, she said.

Plans for participation and transportation are being made by leaders on the playgrounds.

Playgrounds will be open Friday, with one leader on duty, she said.

Construction Workers Get Insurance Plan

Coverage For 1,500 Goes Into Effect

An insurance plan covering some 1,500 construction workers in this area went into effect here yesterday.

The protection will be offered by the Construction Industry Insurance Fund of Western Maryland.

It is being financed by contractors in the construction industry here, who began paying 7½ cents an hour for their workers into the fund May 1.

Charles E. Bramble, secretary-treasurer of the fund, the first of its kind in this area, said the number of workers covered by the plan is expected to reach the 2,000 mark soon.

Details of the plan will be explained in letters which will be mailed this week to all workers who are covered by the plan, negotiated last year in a two-year Building Trades contract—and a subsequent Road and Highway pact.

Effective yesterday, the insurance plan provides $1,000 life insurance and another $1,000 accidental death and dismemberment insurance for workers, plus payments of $20 a week for up to 13 weeks, beginning the first day of an accident and the eighth day of sickness.

Hospital benefits for up to 31 days is available at $10 a day for members and at $7 a day for dependents. For miscellaneous hospital fees, the fund will pay $200 to members and 75 per cent of the next $1,000, and up to $140, with the same ratio for dependents up to $1,000, for dependents.

Maternity benefits of up to $70, with immediate coverage, are provided for dependents, and surgical benefits of up to $200 are provided for both workers and dependents.

The trustees — C. M. Sanner, chairman; C. O. Belt, employer trustee; George E. Clark, employe trustee, and Bramble, explained there is no waiting period or time limit, and that dependents include the worker's wife and children from 14 days to 19 years.

The Union Labor Life Insurance Company, they said, was selected to underwrite the broad benefits.

Claim forms, they added, may be obtained from the fund's office at the Allegany Labor Temple, 125 South Liberty Streeet, or from business agents of the unions covered by the trust agreement.

Bramble said the insurance package being offered is good and that the trustees feel they will be able to offer a still better plan next year.

PenceWeighs School Job Proposal

Rec Director Is Former Coach

Reports that Robert E. Pence, recreation director for the City of Cumberland, is considering a position offered by the Allegany County Board of Education are being aired at City Hall.

It is reported that the new position would be that of supervisor of the physical education program in the schools.

Pence reported last night there is "nothing definite on it" and Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, said there is "no agreement between Pence and the Board of Education." Indications from both, however, were that the matter has been discussed.

West Ridgeley Levee Nears Completion

The West Ridgeley levee, one of three being built in a current contract on the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project, is virtually completed, according to Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers.

The levee, he said, will be completed in a few days, except for topsoil and seeding.

Crews of the E. J. Albrecht Company are busy this week on the Cumberland side of the Potomac River, where the levee which will connect the West Side flood wall at the Moose Home with the new Cumberland-Ridgeley bridge was about half done.

Good progress is being made this week on most of the work under contract.

Hazelwood Construction Company crews were busy in Wills Creek, below the Baltimore Street Bridge, and were preparing the foundation for the batch plant which will mix concrete for its part of the contract.

The company also started work this week on the newest contract, the Mill Race and Ridgeley pumping stations.

On June 22, according to the information, Pyles obtained $24.60 from Patrick Umstot, trading as Umstot's Market in South End, with intent to fraud.

A second count cites that the money was obtained by means of a check drawn upon the Second National Bank of Cumberland, and endorsed by William E. Rexroad, a fictitious name.
